OF THE

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WELFARE

PART I

GENERAL WORK OF THE DEPARTMENT

REPORT OF THE COMMISSIONER OF PUBLIC WELFARE.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives.

The Second Annual Report of the Department of Public Welfare, covering the year from December 1, 1920, to November 30, 1921, is herewith respectfully presented.

Over 80,000 persons have come under the supervision or direct care of the Department during the year. From the abandoned babies and neglected children to the helpless and destitute old men and women, each case involves a critical situation in a human life.

The Department has charge of all the neglected, all the delinquent, and all the dependent persons over whom the Commonwealth takes supervision, except those persons for whose care the State has been able to set up specialized departments, such as the Department of Mental Diseases, the Division of the Blind, or the Department of Correction. By the removal of the larger special problems to those specialized departments the Department of Public Welfare has been left better able to cope with the 80,000 persons who have come under its supervision during the year. These cases are summarized as follows —

1. In the State Infirmery, the Massachusetts Hospital School, and the three training schools	8,239
2. On parole from three training schools	4,188
3. Minor wards, principally in foster homes	7,150
4. Infants in boarding homes supervised	2,388
5. Individuals aided in Mothers' Aid families	17,821
6. Individuals given temporary aid	26,171
7. Individuals given sick aid	5,824
8. Individuals aided because of dangerous diseases	2,257
9. Individuals aided because of wife settlement	1,806
10. Women from State Infirmery under supervision	245
11. Children placed out by cities and towns and supervised	1,097
12. Adults placed out by cities and towns and supervised	219
13. Inmates of almshouses supervised	3,854

¹ Not including individuals aided by the private charities over which the Department has supervision.

The Department is organized into three divisions, the Divisions of Aid and Relief, Child Guardianship, and Juvenile Training; and two embryonic divisions, Private Charities and Housing and Town Planning. Each of the three main divisions includes an institution or institutions as an integral part of its work.

DIVISION OF AID AND RELIEF.

The unemployment situation which began to be felt acutely in the Division of Aid and Relief in November, 1920, still continues. It has caused an increase of 50 per cent in the amounts paid out for temporary aid in State cases, and the number of persons in the families so aided increased nearly 100 per cent, — from 13,313 in 1920 to 26,144 in 1921. It has caused an increase in the number of sick poor persons cared for at the State Infirmary, the hospital of the Division, from 4,140 in 1920 to 5,172 in 1921. Were it not for the savings accumulated during the period of war industries when several members of the family could secure work, and were it not for the savings enforced upon many families by prohibition, the unemployment period would probably be causing even larger expenditures for public and private relief than it is now causing. It has caused an increase in the total net cost of public poor relief in Massachusetts, including the cost to cities and towns as well as the cost to the State, from $6,392,712.36 for the year ending March 31, 1920, to $7,116,954.47 for the year ending March 31, 1921.

In order to reduce as much as possible the distress of unemployment, the Commissioner, early in the year, called attention through the press to the need of organizing local employment committees in cities and towns. Such committees should be made permanent, to deal with the seasonal unemployment which comes every winter and to become better and better prepared to deal with the more acute periods as they occur. By such preventive measures many people can be saved from becoming dependent and having their courage and their self-respect weakened.

A detailed report of the work of the Division of Aid and Relief is made by its Director, Mr. Frank W. Goodhue, on page 12.

The inspection of almshouses and the statistics of poor relief are reported upon in detail in Part III of this volume.

DIVISION OF CHILD GUARDIANSHIP.

Good family care rather than institutional care for the children under the charge of the Division of Child Guardianship has long been the policy of the Department and its predecessors. Dependent children, neglected children, and even those delinquent children who are not in need of institutional discipline are placed in good foster homes. Seven thousand one hundred fifty children have come under the care of the Division during the year. Of the 6,216 children who were under care on November 30, 1921, only 717 were in institutions. Institutional treatment is necessary for many feeble-minded children and for many sick children. Up to the present time, the State Infirmary has had to be used for some feeble-minded children who could not be accommodated at the State schools for the feeble-minded, and for a large number of sick children for whom the Division has had no other hospital. During the year considerable progress has been made toward the improvement of this undesirable situation. A well-equipped one hundred bed hospital for sick children of the Division is being constructed at the Massachusetts Hospital School at Canton, the institution of this Division, and it will be ready for occupancy in 1922.

While the Massachusetts Hospital School has heretofore been devoted to the care of crippled children, the trustees are willing to undertake also the care of non-crippled sick children, provided that they are not feeble-minded. This will make it possible for us to remove our sick minor wards from the overcrowded conditions at the State Infirmary and to secure for them more specialized treatment.

The feeble-minded children at the State Infirmary present a difficult problem. No State in the Union has been able to give adequate care to feeble-minded children. Massachusetts is not behind the other States; its institutional facilities are constantly increasing; and the legislative committee on ways and means, for the express purpose of providing for the children at the Infirmary, has authorized a large building program at the new State school for the feeble-minded at Belchertown.

More adequate institutional care for those children who are sick or feeble-minded will be a great relief to the Division of Child Guardianship.

The work of the Division is reported upon in detail by its Director, Mr. James E. Fee.

DIVISION OF JUVENILE TRAINING.

For the children committed by the courts to the three training schools in the Division of Juvenile Training, the principle of good family care has been extended to a point not generally realized. There are placed out on parole from these schools three times as many children as there are in the institutions. Two thousand six hundred forty-six boys and 482 girls were on parole from the training schools, either in their own families or in good foster homes on November 30, 1921. Had it not been for the policy of parole which has been wisely insisted upon by the trustees of the training schools, the number of State schools could not have been kept at its present minimum number of three. The Lyman School for Boys at Westborough is for younger boys, the Industrial School for Boys at Shirley is for the older boys, and the Industrial School for Girls at Lancaster is for the girls. As quickly as possible the children are placed on parole, and the average term in an institution is less than one year.

As the children who are placed out on parole from the training schools have been tried in the community on probation at least once before their commitment to the schools and have failed, they are especially difficult to supervise, and there is required a special staff of visitors who are trained in handling delinquent boys and girls.

THE FIVE INSTITUTIONS.

Five institutions are required for carrying on that portion of the work of the Department which must necessarily be institutional. The work of each institution is an integral part of the entire work, institutional and non-institutional, of the Division of the Department to which the institution belongs.

The State Infirmary at Tewksbury is primarily the hospital of the Division of Aid and Relief for the State charges who are not admissible to any other State hospital. It is an excellent general hospital, with a capacity of 2,351. Its great difficulty is in its serious problems of classification. With the insane, the tubercular, the aged, with persons afflicted with every form of disease, and with children of all ages, in a population which this year at one time reached 2,492, — 141 more than the capacity of the institution, — as satisfactory results have been obtained as could be expected. A comprehensive building development has been planned which will allow better classification in the various departments. The hoped-for reduction in the number of children by their transfer to Canton and Belchertown will help to accomplish this result. Dr. John H. Nichols, superintendent, gives in detail a report of the work of the institution, which employs 416 persons on its staff.

The Massachusetts Hospital School at Canton has heretofore been entirely devoted to the care of crippled children among whom it has secured a notably large proportion of recoveries, making them self-supporting citizens when they might otherwise have become street beggars or inmates of almshouses. Two factors have contributed especially to the high percentage of recoveries. One factor is the type of building, — the “cottage” which is a unit small enough so that each child may be given individual attention; the other factor is the type of construction, — the “monitor” or cupola roof, which ensures a large supply of fresh air and sunlight. The latter was the invention of the superintendent and has been widely copied. This institution has a capacity of 302, and employs 83 persons on its staff. Its work is reported upon in detail by its superintendent, Dr. John E. Fish.

The Three State Training Schools accommodate an average of about 1,000 boys and girls, — one-fourth of the actual number of delinquent children who are under the care of the Division of Juvenile Training. The two parts of this entire problem of delinquency, the institutional part and the non-institutional part, are handled efficiently in the Division of Juvenile Training by the Trustees of Massachusetts Training Schools, who have long given careful and painstaking consideration to the individual boys and girls and to their welfare, both at the institutions and in the community.

The Lyman School for Boys at Westborough is the school for younger boys under fifteen years of age. Its capacity is 460. Like the other juvenile institutions under this Department, it is operated on the "cottage" plan, with 11 single cottages for 30 boys, and 2 double cottages for 60 boys, each cottage under the charge of a master and a matron. This makes possible a classification which could not be arranged in large congregate reformatories. The master and matron have an intimate knowledge of each boy and exert a family influence over him. Group rivalry among the cottages is stimulated. The school employs 105 persons and is reported upon in detail by its superintendent, Mr. Charles A. Keeler.

The Industrial School for Boys at Shirley is the school for older boys from fifteen to twenty-one years of age. With 9 cottages it has a capacity of 280. Established in 1909, it is the newest of the institutions under the Department, and has a commanding location on a hillside with a broad outlook. A considerable portion of its handsome buildings and grounds has been built by the labor of the older boys. The school employs 67 persons, and is reported upon in detail by its superintendent, Mr. George P. Campbell.

The Industrial School for Girls at Lancaster is for girls under seventeen years of age at the time of commitment. It has beautiful lawns with heavy shade trees, and the cottages, managed entirely by women, have been made homelike to a degree unusual in an institution. The school employs 70 persons, and its work is described in detail by its superintendent, Miss Catharine M. Campbell.

INSTITUTIONAL SUPERVISION.

The institutions have been built up chiefly by the genius and whole-hearted devotion of the superintendents, and their long experience amply justifies the present policy of leaving to them the actual control of their institutions. Such standardization of purchasing as is possible is being developed. This Department acts with the Departments of Correction and Public Health through monthly meetings of the superintendents and stewards to secure joint purchasing and the standardization of specifications. The supervision of farm production, menus, waste, construction and finances is thorough, but it leaves the responsibility for all these matters primarily upon the superintendent, who is in control of the institution and in the most effective position to direct its activities.

Complete analyses of the per capita cost of each item of expense for the institutions will be found on page 119. The building of more and more institutions and the standardizing of them is an easy way of progress, but in Massachusetts the Department of Public Welfare and its predecessors have always tried to emphasize the entire problems rather than merely the institutional aspects of them, and have successfully prevented the too rapid growth of institutional as against non-institutional care.

PRIVATE CHARITIES.

The increase in the number of charitable corporations, the growth of their funds, and the development by them of preventive measures during recent years has been of great assistance to public departments, both city and State. The Board of State Charities in 1866 laid down as a general principle of public charity that "we should avail ourselves of responsible societies and organizations which aim to reform, support, or help any class of dependents, thus lessening the direct agency of the State and enlarging that of the people themselves."

As a certain degree of supervision over private charitable corporations is valuable, they are all required to report to the Department of Public Welfare annually in detail. Abstracts of these reports are printed in Part II of this volume. With the consent of the charitable corporations they may be inspected by this Department. Only one corporation this year has refused to give its consent, and 261 have been inspected.

HOUSING AND TOWN PLANNING.

Planning boards in cities and towns have increased in number from 36 in 1920 to 47 in 1921. The town plan published this year by the city of Newton is a model of clearness and interest. The necessity for this form of preventive work was recognized in 1866 by the Board of State Charities, which reported: "Foremost among the measures of social reform . . . improvement of dwellings; encouragement to ownership of homesteads, . . . cleanliness in every street, lane and yard that the public arm can reach." The efforts which the Department has made to stimulate the appointment of planning boards and to encourage their work are reported upon in detail on page 84.

GENERAL.

While the Commissioner is responsible for the administrative work of the Department, the Advisory Board of five members, the successor to the State Board of Charity, takes part in formulating and changing from time to time the policies which govern the work of the Department. Men and women who have given long study to the problems of dependency and child welfare bring to this service the results of their experience. The Advisory Board is the balance wheel of the organization.

In addition to the duties enumerated above, the departmental activities include the supervision over children placed out by cities and towns, and over adults supported by cities and towns in families other than their own, the inspection of county training schools, wayfarers' lodges, public lodging houses, lying-in hospitals, and boarding houses for infants; the analysis of the statistical returns of cities and towns in regard to persons supported and the cost thereof; and the investigation of petitions for the incorporation of private charities, all important statutory duties, reported upon fully in the following pages.

Throughout the volume there will be found a careful analysis of the expense to the taxpayer. With the decrease in wholesale prices which is now taking place, there is in progress a substantial reduction in the cost of conducting the institutions under the Department. When the decrease in retail prices has progressed far enough to affect substantially the ordinary cost of living, there will be further marked reductions in the cost of relief. The work that is being done to-day is much more effective than the work which was being done ten years ago, because the methods have improved with experience, and because all the forces of the community have developed in their ability to accomplish preventive work. The reclamation of human lives is so fundamental that it is not the point at which to begin to cut governmental expenditures. Each undertaking of this Department is made necessary by some physical, mental or moral weakness of the human beings who are under reclamation. The greatest economies will come through the prevention of such weaknesses, and through all forms of constructive work which build up the physical, mental or moral strength of the people.

RICHARD K. CONANT,
Commissioner.

DIVISION OF AID AND RELIEF.FRANK W. GOODHUE, *Director.Subdivision of Settlements.EDWARD F. MORGAN, Chief.

The duties of this subdivision include the investigation of the legal settlement status of all persons officially called to the attention of the division by overseers of the poor and boards of health, as well as of patients admitted to the State Infirmery, State Farm (almshouse department), State sanatoria and the Massachusetts Hospital School; supervision of public relief in the homes and in the public and private hospitals, rendered by cities and towns to persons without legal settlement; the discharge of male inmates of the State Infirmery and State Farm (almshouse department); and the visitation of city and town poor supported in families.

The following table is a summary of the work done during the year in the examination and investigation of settlements of inmates of the State institutions: —

SUPERVISION OF WAYFARERS' LODGES AND PUBLIC LODGING HOUSES.

Under the provisions of General Laws, chapter 121, sections 7, 20 and 21, the Department annually inspects wayfarers' lodges and public lodging houses where the charge is 25 cents per night or less, and where ten or more beds are provided.

This gives the Department supervision over commercial as well as charitable lodging houses. Many lodging houses of both classes have in the last few years raised their minimum prices to 35 cents, so that the Department no longer has supervision over them.

It is interesting to note that the falling off in patronage at the commercial lodging houses which was mentioned in the last annual report still continues in spite of the business depression and the widespread unemployment. It is probable that since prohibition fewer men of the class who use these lodging houses have come to Boston from outside cities and States. A number of the commercial lodging houses in Boston have been closed, and all have curtailed their accommodations materially. The minimum price in these houses still stands at 20 cents, and when laundry charges, rent, fuel and attendance are considered, this seems to be the lowest price at which even a small margin of profit can be shown. The commercial houses are with few exceptions lower in price than those which are maintained as charities.

Two improvements are worthy of note.

The Wayfarers' Lodge maintained by the Overseers of the Public Welfare of Boston has been thoroughly remodeled and provides a sanitary building, well equipped to care for a maximum of 200. The present building is a credit to the city.

At New Bedford the Men's Mission has erected a small, compact two-story brick building to accommodate 23 men. This building is provided with an adequate kitchen equipment and good bath and toilet rooms. There is a large, well-lighted dormitory with new furnishings and several small rooms. The location of this house is in that part of the city easily reached by the class who will patronize it, and every effort is being made by the management to provide at a small expense a comfortable and pleasant home.

TEMPORARY AID.

The temporary aid law provides that "a town may furnish aid to poor persons found therein, having no lawful settlements within the commonwealth," but "not for a greater amount than two dollars a week for each family during the months of May to September inclusive, or three dollars a week during the other months, except as otherwise ordered by the department of public welfare."

The Department has deemed it expedient to generally authorize overseers of the poor to furnish such aid as is found from investigation to be necessary, pending its detailed investigation and action as provided by the statute. It seems wise to call attention to the fact that persons in good standing receiving this form of assistance are not deemed to be paupers. (Chapter 116, section 4, General Laws.)

On December 1, 1920, there were 1,557 continued cases, and during the year 6,536 notices were received from 205 cities and towns concerning 26,144 persons.

The temporary aid law is a true barometer of industrial conditions, as shown by the large number of cases of unemployment and insufficient income in the following tabulation:—

Causes of Aid, 1921.

The amounts annually appropriated by the Legislature are necessarily for current and previous years. The following tabulation shows the actual amounts reimbursed for aid rendered by cities and towns during the years designated (chapter 117, section 18, General Laws): —

YEAR	Number of Notices	Number of Persons in Families	Amounts reimbursed
1912	2,847	12,339	$48,192 85
1913	3,131	13,434	63,203 05
1914	4,848	20,714	108,334 29
1915	7,305	32,056	178,564 62
1916	5,165	21,043	158,879 65
1917	5,664	22,258	224,538 41
1918	4,358	17,701	258,924 94
1919	3,756	15,668	304,939 52
1920	3,223	13,313	292,989 90

The amount reimbursed for aid rendered in 1921 is not included in the above tabulation, as the claims for the last six months of the year are not received until after the close of the fiscal year, as provided by chapter 122, section 19, General Laws.

SHIPWRECKED SEAMEN.

“Overseers of the poor of towns may provide transportation to destitute shipwrecked seamen from one place to another within the commonwealth, and such other assistance while they are waiting transportation, not exceeding ten dollars for each person, as the said overseers deem necessary. A detailed statement of expenses so incurred shall be rendered to the department of public welfare, and, after approval by it, such expenses shall be paid by the commonwealth from the appropriation for the temporary support of state paupers, without reference to the legal settlement of such seamen.” (Chapter 102, section 5, General Laws.)

During the year, 27 notices were received from the following towns; Hull 1, Nantucket 9, Truro 17.

SICK STATE POOR.

The Commonwealth reimburses cities and towns for aid rendered to persons without legal settlement, ill in their homes or in city or town or private hospitals. The law limits such reimbursement to a rate not exceeding $10.50 per week for the support of a person in a city or town hospital for a period during which the patient is unable to be removed to the State Infirmary, unless the Department of Public Welfare deems it expedient as an economy in expenditure, and in the interest of the patient's health, when it may authorize reimbursement for aid rendered after the patient has become able to be removed to the State Infirmary, and in its discretion until the patient is able to be discharged. (Chapter 122, sections 17 and 18, General Laws.)

On December 1, 1920, there were 207 continued cases, and during the year 5,824 notices were received from 109 cities and towns concerning 5,824 persons represented as too ill to be removed.

DANGEROUS DISEASES.

The law provides that the reasonable expenses incurred by the board of health of a city or town, in making the provision required by law for persons infected with smallpox or other disease dangerous to the public health, shall be paid by the Commonwealth if the person has no settlement, provided the patient or kindred is unable to pay. Reimbursement for hospital care and treatment is limited to a rate not exceeding $10.50 per week, established by the sick State poor law.

On December 1, 1920, there were 332 continued cases, and during the year 2,257 notices were received from 96 cities and towns concerning 2,257 persons. (Chapter 111, section 116, General Laws.)

WIFE-SETTLEMENT.

The law provides that "If a state pauper has a wife who is also a pauper having a legal settlement in this commonwealth, he shall be supported by the town where his wife has her settlement." (Chapter 122, section 12, General Laws.)

On December 1, 1920, there were 101 continued cases, and during the year 454 notices were received from 46 cities and towns, concerning 1,806 persons.

BURIAL.

Overseers of the poor are not limited in the amounts that may be expended for burial, but in unsettled cases reimbursement is limited to an amount not exceeding $30 for the funeral expenses of each person over twelve years, and not exceeding $15 for the funeral expenses for each person under that age; also, the Commonwealth is debarred from reimbursing cities or towns for funeral expenses unless the overseers of the poor file with each claim an affidavit of the undertaker, stating the amount received from the city or town, and further stating that he has not received and will not accept money for such funeral expenses from any other source. (Chapter 117, section 17, General Laws.)

The number of burial claims received was 301.

AUDIT.

The number, amount and allowance of the bills examined on account of cases of temporary aid, sick State poor, dangerous diseases, wife-settlement, burial, and mothers with dependent children are shown in the following tabulation. It is to be noted that the total shown in this table may vary somewhat from the total paid out of the treasury during the fiscal year from the appropriation in question. This possible variance arises from the fact that bills audited by this Department are in some cases not actually paid during the year for which the audit is shown. For actual expenditures from these respective appropriations see pages 145 to 149.

Subdivision of Mothers' Aid.

MRS. ELIZABETH F. MOLONEY, Chief.

The Massachusetts Mothers' Aid law is essentially a child welfare measure. The money which is paid under its provisions to a mother of dependent children is not in the nature of a gratuity or a pension due the mother because of the fact that she has borne children. The State is not primarily interested in the mother as an individual, but in her as the guardian and caretaker of her dependent children, — the future citizens of the State.

In return for adequate aid, continuing, if necessary, over a period of years, the State has a right to expect that the mothers so aided shall maintain good standards of home care. Failure to maintain such standards causes a mother to forfeit her aid, and is likely to result in having the children taken from her and placed with a competent foster-mother. The welfare of the children is of paramount importance.

Each family presents its own special problem. In order to obtain the best results, it is necessary to formulate a constructive plan for each family, and then to make adequate provision for carrying out the plan.

Careful investigation of each application is the first step. While this investigation is going forward interim relief under the law is available. Time spent in verifying births and marriages, in checking up bank accounts, insurance moneys received, property facts and wages, and in pressing any legal rights that an applicant may have is time well spent. The more thorough and painstaking the investigation is, the better.

In estimating the needs of a family, it is necessary to consider not only the number of persons, but also the age, the health, the special needs and the capabilities and handicaps of each member. The racial characteristics and food preferences of the family, the skill of the mother in household management, the former standards of living, and the standards of living of self-supporting families in the community must be kept in mind.

There are minimum standards of decency and comfort which govern housing and fuel expenses, and there are scientific estimates of clothing and food requirements of persons of different ages which serve as guides in making family budgets.

The expenses include rent, fuel, clothing, food and sundries. The income includes net earnings and regular help from relatives or other sources. The difference between the weekly expenses and the weekly income indicates the amount of aid which a family needs at a given time. Family needs vary, and the grants of aid should vary with the needs. In times of sickness and during convalescence the expenses increase and more aid is needed. Then, too, there are often special needs such as glasses, special shoes, braces and the like, moving expenses, replacement of bedding, house furnishings, etc., which demand extra grants of money. On the other hand, as the children grow older and earn higher wages the income increases so that aid can be gradually reduced as the family becomes more nearly self-supporting.

Constructive case work with families means a careful first investigation, the formulation of a family plan, the adoption of a family budget, and then constant, kindly follow-up to see that the plan is working out well, and to adjust the aid to the changing needs of the family.

COST OF LIVING.

During the year the cost of living has remained high with only some slight decreases. Rents were very high and they have been increasing. While a few articles of clothing (and cotton goods by the yard) are much cheaper, good shoes for children, rubbers and clothing prices in general are still high.

Coal is cheaper by the ton, but as many mothers are forced to buy their coal by the bag, they have to pay for it at the rate of $20 per ton. Many overseers of the poor, in addition to the regular Mothers' Aid allowance, furnish coal in quarter and half ton lots during the winter months. One overseer sent to each of his Mothers' Aid families two tons of coal. He contracted for it during the summer, and it was delivered in the fall when the dealers could more easily cart it. He claims that the mothers did not waste the fuel because it was delivered in two-ton lots rather than in quarter tons. He pointed out the fact that many of these same families were in the habit of putting in several tons of coal at a time when their husbands were living and supporting them.

Food has decreased in price more than any other item of the budget. Bread, flour, eggs, milk, butter, lard, sugar, cereals, dried fruits, fish and potatoes are some of the staples that have materially decreased in price. Meats remain high in price, and consequently very little meat is used by Mothers' Aid families.

Whether due to skill or to intuition, the average mother of small means feeds her children on good, plain, nourishing food. Some mothers need special help and advice in planning how to spend their weekly allowance to the best advantage.

UNEMPLOYMENT.

During the past year unemployment has been a factor in Mothers' Aid cases. Families which had become self-supporting because of the steady earnings of the older children were obliged to apply again for Mothers' Aid when the closing of workshops and factories threw these wage-earning members of the family out of employment. Some of the older boys and girls have been out of work for months at a time, and others have returned to work at lower wages or on part time.

It has been increasingly difficult for children from fourteen to sixteen years of age to get work, so that many children of these ages have been kept at school from necessity. This has really been a blessing in disguise to the children, who are thus given a chance to get more schooling than they would otherwise be allowed.

The mothers of families report that they have been able to get much less "day work" to do because many of those who in prosperous times hire women to wash and clean have been obliged to curtail such expenses.

STATISTICS.

At the beginning of the fiscal year (on December 1, 1920) there were 3,330 mothers with 10,534 dependent children under fourteen years of age receiving Mothers' Aid.

During the year 941 new cases were added and 864 cases were closed, so that there were 3,407 mothers in receipt of Mothers' Aid at the close of the fiscal year (November 30, 1921).

On December 1, 1920, the 3,330 mothers with 10,534 dependent children were classified as follows: —

A. Classified as to legal settlement:

1. Without legal settlement:

588 mothers with 1,761 dependent children.

2. With a legal settlement:

2,742 mothers with 8,773 dependent children.

B. Classified as to widowhood:

1. Widows:

2,798 mothers with 8,857 dependent children.

2. Not widows:

532 mothers with 1,677 dependent children.

NOTE. — The living husbands of the 532 mothers were classified as follows: —

290 were totally incapacitated (83 were insane, 207 had chronic illness; of the latter, 139 had tuberculosis and 68 other than tuberculosis).

191 were deserting husbands.

32 were divorced or legally separated.

19 were in jail.

The new cases that were received during the fiscal year included 941 mothers with 3,016 dependent children, and were classified as follows:—

A. Classified as to legal settlement:

1. Without legal settlement:

155 mothers with 460 dependent children.

2. With a legal settlement:

786 mothers with 2,556 dependent children.

B. Classified as to widowhood:

1. Widows:

619 mothers with 1,985 dependent children.

2. Not widows:

322 mothers with 1,031 dependent children.

NOTE. — The living husbands of the 322 mothers were classified as follows:—

193 were totally incapacitated (46 were insane, 147 had chronic illness; of the latter, 95 had tuberculosis and 52 other than tuberculosis).

90 were deserting husbands.

16 were divorced or legally separated.

23 were in jail.

CAUSES OF DEPENDENCY.

The death of the father of the family was the chief cause of dependency, nearly 4 out of every 5 mothers who were aided being widows.

In the case of the living fathers, by far the greatest number were afflicted with chronic illness (2 out of 3 of the sick fathers being tubercular).

Of the living fathers, 41.5 per cent were chronically ill. Grouping the deserting fathers and those who were divorced or legally separated from their wives, 38.5 per cent of the living fathers fell into this class; 15.1 per cent of the living fathers were insane, and 4.9 per cent of the living fathers were in jail.

Thus the causes of dependency in the order of their importance were:—

1. Death of father.

2. Chronic illness of father.

3. Desertion or divorce of father.

4. Insanity of father.

5. Commitment of father to jail.

REASONS FOR CLOSING MOTHERS' AID CASES.

Of the 864 cases closed during the year, by far the greater number were closed because there was no further need of public aid. In 340 of these cases the earnings of the children had increased. In 55 cases the husbands had returned from hospitals or other institutions and had assumed the support of their families. One hundred and nineteen mothers remarried and their new husbands assumed the support of their children.

Six cases were closed because the mother had not resided in Massachusetts for three years next prior to the date of her application for Mothers' Aid. Twenty withdrew their applications for aid directly after the applications were recorded. Eleven mothers were committed to State hospitals for the insane or to other institutions for incurables. Fifteen mothers died.

In 35 cases the youngest child became fourteen years of age and the cases were automatically closed.

Forty-six mothers were found to be unfit to bring up their children properly. In most of these cases the mother was immoral and in some cases the mother had given birth to an illegitimate child. Nineteen cases were closed because of the presence of male lodgers. The male lodger has proved to be a most undesirable element in these fatherless families, and he should be rigidly excluded.

One mother decided to place her children in an orphanage, and 8 others persisted in boarding out some of their dependent children instead of bringing them up in their own homes as required under the Mothers' Aid law.

In 24 cases the applicant for Mothers' Aid was found to have equity in property greater than $500, or else she was making co-operative bank payments or other payments which increased her equity. Many property cases which were at first disapproved because they did not conform to our property policy were later adjusted so that it was possible to grant Mothers' Aid under the changed conditions.

Forty-five mothers were found to have more than $200 cash on hand, so that weekly grants of Mothers' Aid were sus-pendent until the cash on hand in excess of $200 had been used for the living expenses of the family.

In 11 cases the mother with only one dependent child was refused Mothers' Aid when it was shown that the mother was in good health, and that it was possible for her to become self-supporting by changing her plan of living. In several cases the young mother and her one child returned to live with her parents who agreed to take care of the child while the mother worked and fully supported both herself and child.

Thirteen cases were transferred to other forms of aid, such as temporary aid, to take care of a purely temporary need, or military aid, where the military service of the father of the family entitled his dependents to adequate State aid, soldiers' pension or soldiers' relief.

In 112 cases aid was closed because the applicant moved out of a given town. Many of these cases were later reopened in the city or town to which the family removed.

A record was kept of the length of time for which the 864 cases which were closed had been aided. Three hundred forty-three of them had been aided for less than one year; 8 had been aided for eight years.

Subdivision of Social Service.

Miss FLORA E. BURTON, Chief.

Eight hundred fifty-five women and children were admitted to the State Infirmary during the year, including 192 who were wards of the Division of Child Guardianship, the Industrial School for Girls, the Lyman School for Boys or the Reformatory for Women. There were 109 births.

The total number discharged was 800, including 266 who were discharged to the above-named State offices.

Intensive work has always been given to maternity cases, and to dependent women with children, admitted to the State Infirmary. These are the most difficult problems to solve, and take much time. Nevertheless, it has been possible for the visitors to give equally careful study and supervision to the other classes of cases enumerated below.

Children. — One visitor has entire care of those children at the State Infirmary who are not State wards. The largest group, consisting of 13 boys and 9 girls, whose ages varied from fifteen months to twelve years, was the tubercular group. Two of these children were discharged to the Westfield State Sanatorium, and one died. It is noteworthy that we have to record only one death, a little girl who was dangerously ill when admitted. The visitor investigates the homes from which these children have been sent, and if satisfactory, the children are returned upon their discharge. If the home is found unsuitable, the child is referred to the Division of Child Guardianship for placement in a foster home.

The next group consisted of 14 children having congenital syphilis and gonorrhea. The placing of these children involves careful investigation and more careful follow-up work to see that visits are made to the clinics for further treatment. In these cases the source of infection must be traced. The parents of congenitally syphilitic children must be advised to go to the hospital for examination for the benefit of future children, and the family in which gonorrhea has appeared must also have careful examination and instruction.

Miscellaneous diseases appear in many of the children, due largely to ignorance of parents, bad housing or malnutrition.

It is our aim not to return a child to the same bad environment which caused the illness.

Tubercular Patients. — The visitor who has the responsibility for these patients has given special attention to the bed cases. The bed patients have been taught to crochet useful articles, and fruits and other delicacies have frequently been provided, with the result that they are more contented. When discharged, they are referred to the public health authorities of the town of their residence for continued observation. A new volunteer visitor has taken great interest in the tubercular patients, and is providing an excellent library of modern books and magazines for their use. These patients have not heretofore had access to the institution library because of the danger of contagion.

Aged Women. — If all the wards could be as suitable and as homelike as the special ward for the old ladies, the difficulties in persuading patients to remain for the necessary period would be minimized. Single rooms and two small wards give privacy and the possibility of having personal possessions. This ward is an expression of the humaneness of the superintendent and his staff, and the comfort which they would like to give to all the patients.

In the spring of the year the aged women at the infirmary who are able-bodied are allowed to go out to work which is secured for them. Sometimes they retain the work for the summer, but more often for only a short time. Often we find them sitting on the benches of the Common. However, they earn enough money by cleaning and dishwashing to keep them in food and shelter through the warm weather. Their infirmities, no work, and cold weather, invariably drive them back to the Infirmary. Nevertheless, the freedom and independence of a few months makes them more content to return, and also relieves the institution from being always overcrowded. If the senile old women could be segregated, the comfort of those remaining in the house ward would be greatly improved.

Drug Addicts. — The drug addict is the most difficult patient to place in the community. Her stay at the hospital is far too short to be of any curative value, yet we cannot keep a voluntary patient against her will. The patient or her relatives usually insist on discharge as soon as the patient begins to feel better. As far as physical condition goes, the patients get over the acute illness, only to have it return when they get the drug again. We place them at work in carefully selected homes, and find that they steal away in the night, or do not return when given free time. They are sly and untruthful. Family, religion or employment have no influence, because they desire their own companions and their drugs. Morally and spiritually they are not ready to face the world. Only when this pernicious thing is entirely removed from the body by careful treatment over a long period of time, one year at least, can we ever hope to help these pitiful sufferers back to self-respect and usefulness. We urge adequate treatment and legal restraint, because these patients are incapable of making a reasonable decision in their afflicted condition.

Syphilis and Gonorrhea.—One hundred sixteen girls and women were admitted to the State Infirmary during the year with a diagnosis of syphilis or gonorrhea. The Wassermann test brought to light for treatment many additional cases of latent syphilis. The syphilitic patients remain three months for intensive treatment, and usually at the end of that time they are ready for out-patient care. Gonorrhea is very uncertain, requiring from three to six months' treatment, or even longer. This group of women presents a difficult disciplinary problem for the Infirmary. The patients, feeling well physically, have much energy which has no wholesome outlet. The lack of freedom and the feeling of restraint results in many misdemeanors. When placed at work these girls do very well, but it is only constant urging which induces them to attend the out-patient clinics. We lose contact with these girls more frequently than with those having babies, because the babies are an incentive to the mothers to do well and to attend the clinics.

Mothers with Babies.—There is little to add to the report of past years in the treatment of mothers with babies. Their most important needs are work and intelligent supervision in the community. The mothers who are easily cared for and who do not present any psychopathic problems receive very little consideration. Those who are difficult require weeks of effort in placing and replacing and in teaching them how to live peacefully in society. Health is so important a feature in the treatment that mothers and babies are a medical social problem as well as a placement problem. We should like to see all unmarried mothers and babies given a fair chance to win their way back to self-respect and support. It is impossible to give them the specialized treatment needed, because the cases are distributed among so many agencies each of which cares for only a few mothers. The child-placing worker does not understand this problem, try as she conscientiously does, because she has only one or two cases a year. We are constantly meeting the results of misdirected efforts to care for our unmarried mothers. For a square deal, there should be a plan of centralization covering the State, and specially trained persons should be assigned to investigate and help these women. The responsibility for such a plan should be divided between public and private agencies. The mothers with the better background who are first offenders should go to private care; the second offenders, and the mothers of low mental capacity should be assumed by the public agency.

Visitors. — Through the kindly interest of a member of the advisory board of the Department, the State Infirmary has this year found several new and generous friends. Four ladies visit the patients monthly, always laden with delicacies and good cheer, and one volunteer, already mentioned, makes weekly visits to the tubercular ward and the ward for older women. This volunteer interest gives great joy to the patients.

The stress of work during the year has been a severe tax upon the physical and mental resources of our limited staff, comprising a supervisor and four visitors. Any one who can visualize the social problems arising in connection with the supervision of 855 admissions, 534 discharges, and 245 women with children in the community who have received after care, must appreciate the devotion and unselfishness of the visitors. The need of an additional visitor is very urgent, and is recommended.

DIVISION OF CHILD GUARDIANSHIP.JAMES E. FEE, *Director.CHILDREN IN CARE AND CUSTODY OF THE DIVISION.

At the beginning of the last official year, December 1, 1920, there were 6,316 children in the care and custody of the Division of Child Guardianship, — 248 delinquent, 36 wayward, 3,312 neglected and 2,720 dependent. During the year 834 children were received, viz., 98 delinquent, 8 wayward, 269 neglected and 459 dependent. The total number during the year was 7,150. There were 934 discharged, viz., 130 delinquent, 9 wayward, 404 neglected and 391 dependent. At the close of the year, November 30, 1921, there remained in charge of the Division of Child Guardianship 6,216 children classified as: delinquent 216, wayward 35, neglected, 3,177, and dependent 2,788.

Five thousand eight hundred fifty-one of the 6,216 children under care November 30, 1921, were over three years of age and cared for as follows: In places receiving wages, 636; in places free of expense to the State, 705; in places partly supported by the State, 181; in places fully supported by the State, 3,417; at the State Infirmary and other institutions, not correctional, subject to care and treatment, 693; in United States service, 73; married, 41; and whereabouts unknown, 105.

Three hundred sixty-five children in the total under care November 30, 1921, who were under three years of age, were classified as follows: in homes free of expense, 21; in homes fully supported by the State, 320; at the State Infirmary or other institutions, 24. One hundred forty-six in this group reached the age of three years during the year.¹

¹ In addition to these 6,216 children, the Department had under its supervision and visitation November 30, 1921: 465 boys at the Lyman School for Boys; 284 girls at the Industrial School for Girls; 317 boys at the Industrial School for Boys; 2,647 boys and 482 girls in the custody of the Trustees of Massachusetts Training Schools, outside the schools; 132 boys and 98 girls, inmates of the Massachusetts Hospital School; 157 children, patients at the State Infirmary, who are either young infants with their mothers, or else under hospital treatment; and 1,241 children supported at the expense of the cities and towns, making approximately a total of 12,039 children in the care and custody or under the supervision of the Department.

CHILDREN UNDER THREE YEARS OF AGE.

The total number of infants in charge of the Division on November 30, 1920 was 381; the number received during the year was 233, making the whole number supported 614. There remained on November 30, 1921, 365 infants. Eight of the 614 infants supported were legally adopted; 146 reached the age of three years and were transferred to the subdivision of older children; 49 were discharged to parents or relatives; 5 to place of settlement; 9 to courts; 2 were released on bail; and 30 died. Twenty-one of the remaining 365 were in free homes.

Fifty-nine of the 233 infants received were committed by the overseers of the poor and 5 by the superintendent of the State Infirmary under the provisions of section 22, chapter 119 of the General Laws. Twenty of this number were foundlings, and the remainder were indigent infants, having no settlement in the Commonwealth.

One hundred twenty-four infants were received under the provisions of section 38, chapter 119, and 43 were committed as neglected under the provisions of section 42, chapter 119; 2 were removed under the provisions of section 28 of the same chapter.

Three hundred forty-seven children were admitted to the Nursery.

All children are vaccinated when received if there are no marks showing a previous successful vaccination.

The medical visitor and visiting nurses made 8,912 visits. This number includes visits to infants boarded in families, investigation of homes of applicants for infants to board, and inspection of homes of applicants for licenses to board infants; also physical examination of children at this office and at the Nursery.

Infant Mortality.

The total number of children under three years of age supported during the year was 614, 30 of whom died, showing a mortality rate of 4.88 per cent.

The number of infants under one year of age supported during the year was 170, of whom 16 died, making the mortality rate for this group 9.41 per cent.

The fact that the mortality rate for this year is the lowest yet recorded strengthens the theory that the present system of boarding infants and the methods of supervision are effective. Under the present system infants are sent to the hospital only if they are difficult feeding cases or seriously ill; if for the former reason, they are returned to the home as soon as the correct formula is found. Ordinarily, sick infants are attended at the boarding homes by the family physician, while the departmental nurse makes frequent or, if necessary, daily visits until recovery.

After a careful analysis of the deaths during the past year it was found that 2 were sent on reception to the State Infirmary where they died, 9 occurred at other hospitals, and only 5 occurred in the foster homes,—3 died of uncontrollable diseases, while the other 2 were in poor physical condition from the beginning and died of intestinal trouble.

CHILDREN OVER THREE YEARS OF AGE.

During the year 747 children were received; this number includes 601 new cases and 146 transferred from subdivision for infants; 20 died, 250 became of age, 47 were adopted and 514 otherwise discharged. At the close of the year the number over three years of age under care was 5,851, — 3,217 boys and 2,634 girls. The decrease in population for the year is 84, or 1.4 per cent.

In this subdivision there are 831 girls over fourteen years of age, exclusive of 223 who are classified as feeble-minded. Four hundred nineteen, or 50.4 per cent, are attending school under the following conditions: 20 on visit or parole with parents; 57 receiving wages; 46 receiving board and clothing free of expense to the State; 115 partly free; and 197 for whom board is paid. One hundred ninety-two are at grammar school, 195 at high school, 16 at trade school, 5 at normal school, 2 at business school and 2 at college. There are also 31 who are attending evening school. Thirty-seven of the remaining 412 are married and living in their own homes, while 146 are employed at housework. There are two girls doing millinery and dressmaking. Many of the girls have engaged in industry, 59 being employed in factory work, 10 in stores and 43 in offices. These latter are serving in the capacity of stenographers, dictaphone operators or clerks. Four are telephone operators and one a telegraph operator. Hospital work makes a strong appeal to many of the girls, and there are 12 taking the training course for nurses in various hospitals in the State. As a result of previous normal school training, two are teaching. One is employed in a library.

The variety of occupations in which the girls are engaged indicates that they are able to take advantage of the same opportunities which would come to the average girl living in her own family. Another evident fact is that many are ambitious and seek opportunities through which they can continually raise their standards of living.

Visitors to older girls attended 186 girls' cases in juvenile sessions of courts where no woman probation officer is employed.

In five of these cases a wayward complaint was made. One was dismissed, two girls were committed temporarily to this Division and later dismissed, one was placed on probation and one permanently committed to our care.

There were 181 cases of delinquency, with specific charges, as follows: stubborn, 86; lewd and lascivious, 26; larceny, 20; fornication, 18; runaway, 8; truancy, 7; idle and disorderly, 6; assault and battery, 4; injury to property, 2; vagrancy, 1; disturbing the school, 1; violating Sunday law, 1; and selling cigarettes to minors, 1.

Seventy of these cases required more than one hearing before the final disposition could be made, so that out of the 181 cases enumerated above only 111 were actually new. On each occasion, however, a visitor from this Division was present to advise.

It will be noticed that a large majority of these cases were stubborn, which would seem to indicate a deplorable lack of parental control.

The final dispositions were as follows: 37 committed to the Industrial School at Lancaster, 4 given a suspended sentence to the same institution, 16 dismissed, 8 filed, 3 defaulted, 33 placed on probation, and 10 committed to our Division for permanent care.

There is little new to report on the subject of the feeble-minded. Their commitment to the schools — the proper destination for the majority — still remains, for want of room, a very slow process.

During the year two boys and 23 girls were admitted at Wrentham, and 12 boys and 7 girls at Waverley. This included 21 girls and 5 boys transferred from the State Infirmary. There yet remain, however, at the Infirmary, 81 boys and 68 girls of all ages, classified as feeble-minded, with no immediate prospect of transfer.

There were on November 30, 1920, at board in special homes awaiting admission to the schools, 89 girls from five to twenty-one years old (80 per cent over fourteen years), and 52 boys from seven to sixteen years old, 40 of whom attend school. The inability of the majority of these children to keep up with classes even below their age and their influence on normal children make attendance at public schools undesirable.

The grown girls are taught to sew, mend, cook and keep house, with varying degrees of success. Now and then one shows sufficient ability to warrant placing in a family for wages, where close supervision can be assured. Fourteen are now self-supporting in this way. Twelve girls have been allowed to go to relatives on probation, and are giving no trouble.

It is extremely difficult to obtain boarding homes for this class. There is no difficulty in finding a wage home for a fairly competent girl.

When the law permitting the commitment of the feeble-minded to the Department of Mental Diseases for supervision in the community is in operation a larger number could be given a trial in family homes. At present our supervision ends when they become twenty-one years of age.

INVESTIGATING DEPARTMENT.

Reports of relief agencies, public and private, for the past year show a tremendous influx of work due to unemployment. Because our policies have constantly been against disrupting a family for dependency alone, our numbers have not materially increased. We have received applications from distracted parents who, now that their savings have gone, feel that the only remedy is to place their children and allow the mother to become the breadwinner. These applications rarely result in acceptances, but we have endeavored to connect these parents with other sources of relief.

As always, we find the most hopeless situation that of the widower with a large family. Even a good job does not solve his problem, and almost invariably he is forced to break up his home. We are more and more called on to relieve this sort of situation, as the private agencies increasingly refuse cases without full support. Other than in this particular kind of case we feel that along with the poverty should be some other decisive factor to indicate the removal of children. Sickness and mental disorder are the most common causes.

In making up the statistics for the year a noticeable variation from those of previous years is evident, which illustrates the change in policies of private agencies. If investigation proves the case to be in the province of another organization, it is taken up with that agency and transferred if an agreement is reached.

Statistics for the past four years are as follows: —

Cases closed after Acceptance by Other Agencies during the Past Four Years.

ASSUMED BY —	Public Agency	Private Agency
1917-18	291	165
1918-19	367	151
1919-20	246	186
1920-21	319	106

The large numbers in 1918-19 are directly traceable to the influenza epidemic.

This Department feels justified in forcing financial responsibility on the shoulders where it belongs, and regardless of the returns is sure that good constructive work is accomplished thereby. If a low-grade mother of an illegitimate child is mentally inadequate to cope with the discipline of her growing child and is relieved by us, even though her earning power is small we urge a contribution, sometimes no more than 25 cents per week. It is easy to let another bear the burden, and sometimes well-intentioned parents, visiting regularly and satisfied that their children are well cared for, fail to meet their obligations relative to support. Some feel that the Commonwealth should assume all expense, but in these cases we encourage contributions as large as possible, and by so doing increase self-respect and develop a sense of duty. Even with the problem of unemployment, our last year's returns are not much affected.

Following are the statistics of the investigating department: —

The receipts for contributory support of children in charge of the Department are shown in the following table.

Payments are received from parents upon voluntary agreement, also from probation officers of the various courts upon orders issued at time of commitment; in some cases, when parents have been able but unwilling to contribute, we have been obliged to prosecute for non-support.

The unemployment situation is reflected in a decrease over the previous year in the amount of contributory support received during the year direct from parents. The probation officers report that a large percentage of those hitherto paying regularly are now unemployed.

Collections for Support received from Cities and Towns and directly from Parents.

LICENSED BOARDING HOUSES FOR INFANTS.

During the last official year 298 licenses to maintain boarding houses for infants were granted under the provisions of General Laws, chapter 119, section 2, in 82 cities and towns, in addition to the 317 licenses in force at the expiration of the previous year; 264 licenses expired by the one-year limitation; 3 were canceled because of death of boarding women, 32 were canceled because of changes of residence; 1 was revoked because of improper care of infants; 21 were withdrawn; and 315 licenses, permitting the boarding of 654 infants in 76 cities and towns, remained in force November 30, 1921. These represent the licensed homes, not only of infants supported by the Commonwealth, but also of those under the age of two years placed out by parents and many private agencies.

The following table shows the number of licenses issued, the number of cities and towns where licensees reside, the number of licenses expired, revoked, canceled and refused, the whole number in force, etc., for the year ending November 30, 1921, and for twenty-nine preceding years:—

During the past year the State nurses have made 1,707 visits to infants placed in homes under private supervision and the supervision of societies. (Visits to infants under the supervision of the Department of Public Welfare are not included.)

It has been necessary to take court action in private cases where laws governing the protection of infants (chapter 119) were willfully violated, and strict supervision is being kept in many instances.

Summary of Infants under Two Years of Age reported to the Department of Public Welfare from December 1, 1920, to November 30, 1921, under Chapter 119 of the General Laws, which provides for the Protection of Infants and the Licensing and Regulation of Boarding Houses for them.

DIVISION OF JUVENILE TRAINING.

CHARLES M. DAVENPORT, Director.ROBERT J. WATSON, Executive Secretary.

On November 30, 1921, the total number of children who were wards of the trustees of the training schools was 4,195, distributed as follows:—

SCHOOL	In the Schools	On Parole	Totals
Lyman School for Boys	465	1,769	2,234
Industrial School for Boys	317	877	1,194
Industrial School for Girls	285	482	767
	1,067	3,128	4,195

The trustees have held twelve meetings during the year in addition to forty-three meetings of various committees. Each request for the release or parole of a boy or girl is given careful and thorough attention by the trustees. A total of 138 separate visits have been made to the three schools by members of the Board of Trustees during the past year. In addition to these visits made by the trustees, the executive secretary of the Board has visited the three schools fifty-two times during the year. When a boy is ready for parole, the parole visitor investigates his home and makes a report to the trustees. If the boy's home seems to offer a fair chance of his succeeding there on his return, the trustees will give him a trial at home. If he does not succeed, he will be returned to the school and perhaps placed out with a family in the country until he seems worthy of another trial at home.

If he has no home, or if it seems inadvisable to parole him in his own home, he is secured a foster home on a farm or elsewhere.

At the Industrial School for Boys every boy whose case is considered for parole is interviewed personally by a committee of the trustees. At the Lyman School for Boys the trustees see personally only those boys who are returned to the school for violation of their parole.

Notwithstanding the industrial depression a large net gain in the savings of wards was made in each parole department. The Boy's Parole Branch reported a total balance on deposit at the close of the fiscal year of $19,877.81, representing 692 accounts, this being a net gain of $5,028.02 over last year. The Girls' Parole Branch had a balance on deposit of $17,994.40, representing 358 accounts, compared with $14,251.14 for the corresponding period of 1920, a net gain of $3,743.26.

The three training schools in this Division are reported on separately, see pages 102 to 108.

Boys' Parole Branch.

JOHN J. SMITH, Superintendent.

The year 1921 will long be remembered by each visitor in this branch as a period which tested his patience, resourcefulness and ability to handle difficult problems. Disturbed industrial conditions, the necessity of complying with school attendance laws, and the spirit of unrest which is still so prevalent, — all operated to the disadvantage of our boys. Yet, notwithstanding the unusual features, it is encouraging to note that results on the whole were extremely satisfactory. At the close of the year approximately 75 per cent of our wards were doing well. Of the 139 Lyman and 144 Shirley boys who became of age during the year 68 per cent were doing well when they attained their majority. Twenty boys on parole from Lyman School for Boys and 12 boys on parole from the Industrial School for Boys, who became of age in 1921, were granted honorable discharge by the trustees. The 68 per cent mentioned above does not include those boys who were honorably discharged.

A close study of the statistics incorporated in this report will give some idea of the amount of work involved in our problem. Roughly speaking, there were 13,000 visits made during the year; 1,350 homes of boys investigated; and in addition, more than 250 foster homes were investigated, most of which proved satisfactory.

CONSTRUCTIVE WORK.

Constructive work on parole, however, was to a large extent neglected, as a result of emergency work. Our visitors spent more than 1,500 hours in seeking runaways from place and from both institutions, and over 2,000 hours in looking for jobs for boys. They were also obliged to attend court 463 days, and on most of these days had to return boys either to the Lyman School for Boys or to the Industrial School for Boys. With such a large number of boys on parole, it seems unfortunate that our visitors have to spend so much time in seeking school runaways and returning them. I feel strongly that much better results could be obtained if the matter of returning school runaways were not considered a part of our visitors' work. It seems a waste of time and money, when one who could do the work just as well could be engaged at a much smaller salary. It is logical, however, to expect our visitors to devote some time to locating school runaways, but once located I feel it should be the business of the school authorities to see that such boys are returned.

The need of constructive work on parole was never so apparent as at present. Unfortunately, however, our visitors are overburdened with more cases than they can properly attend to. I hope the day is not far distant when the need of constructive work in the homes becomes so obvious that our force of visitors will be increased to handle adequately the problem.

UNEMPLOYMENT.

In the transition period from abnormally high wages to reduced employment our visitors were keenly alive to their responsibilities, and prepared their boys for the inevitable break in wages. The result was, therefore, that most of our boys held their jobs. In a way it is truly remarkable that so many of them, poorly equipped mentally and physically, have retained their employment, when others, better equipped, have failed.

Yet we still have unemployment as a disturbing factor. Industrial conditions have not been so bad for years. Unemployment in the large cities is so common that unless due care is taken by our visitors our wards may offer unemployment as an excuse for their lack of desire to work. In such cases the visitor must know his boys and understand whether they are in earnest or lazy. Conditions in the country districts have also changed a great deal during the year. Lack of employment in the cities has driven many people to the farms in search of work, and for the first time in years the farmer has ceased to be an errand boy for his hired help. It is not surprising, therefore, that some of our boys, lacking in mental poise, and not over fond of farm work, have not been able to hold their jobs under competition.

I notice, too, a growing feeling among parents of some of our boys who find it hard to support them under present industrial conditions, to complain to the visitors in the hope that they will remove their boys until conditions improve and they can again become an earning power in the home.

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE.

Among our boys of school age who formerly worked and were thrown out of employment, are those whom it is almost impossible to get to return to school and not be truants. Primarily they left school because they disliked it, and their dislike has been accentuated the longer they have been free of school.

STATISTICS.

A disturbing feature of the year's work was the large number of boys who were returned to Lyman School for Boys. The total number was 458, of which number 355 were returned for violation of parole, and 103 for relocation and other purposes. It is hard to put one's finger on any definite reason for so many returns, but the consensus of opinion among our visitors is that returned boys were not disciplined enough, with the result that they looked upon a return to the school as of minor consequence. Efforts have been made at the school to make the stay of a returned boy less pleasant, and it is hoped that beneficial results will follow.

During the year 39 boys on parole from Lyman School for Boys and 25 on parole from the Industrial School for Boys were granted honorable discharges by the trustees.

A glance at the statistical table will show a large number of our boys on parole whose whereabouts and occupation are unknown. Undoubtedly this is accounted for by the spirit of the times, which sends so many young men wandering all over the country.

SAVINGS OF WARDS.

During the year the net gain in deposits of wards in our care was $5,028.02. The total balance on deposit at the close of the fiscal year was $19,877.81. This represents 692 accounts. The large net increase in deposits may be accounted for by the fact that our visitors were exercising great care in collecting wages due. The experiment of buying boys' clothing through the office has worked to good advantage, and marked savings are made.

The work of the visitors and office force has been most satisfactory, and the superintendent wishes to acknowledge appreciation of their efforts.

Girls' Parole Branch.

MISS EDITH N. BURLEIGH, Superintendent.

Girls on parole from an institution for delinquents present from year to year much the same problems. One of the chief obstacles to overcome this year has been a great increase in the number of girls on parole. There have been 572 different girls on parole during the whole or a part of the year. Last year there were 506. The daily average number of girls has been 349.33. The daily average has increased steadily in the last five years from 267 in 1917 to 349.33 in 1921. The weekly per capita cost has increased from $1.43 in 1917 to $1.89 in 1921.

One hundred sixty-nine girls paroled for the first time and 63 girls reparaoled have been taken from the school on parole this year, a total of 232 girls. This is the largest number taken from the school in one year.

An increase in the number of girls in the charge of each visitor has been added to somewhat by the withdrawal of one visitor, who has been in charge of finding homes and employment for about six and one-half years, and who has visited from ten to twenty girls in addition to her other duties. These other duties have become so insistent this year that all her time has been absorbed by them.

A great deal of time and thought is put into locating the girl coming out of the school for the first time, in an effort to bridge the gap between the institution and the greater freedom and temptation outside. To provide each girl with the best possible chance means the use of every available resource and the exercise of judgment, intuition and imagination. The fact that many of the girls are incapable of sustained effort, or are too much of a responsibility for their employers or for their families, make many changes necessary. Nevertheless, 87 girls during the year completed a stay of at least a year in a place of employment, and of all the girls in homes or employment on November 30, 1921, 46 had been in one place over a year.

Three hundred sixty-five girls have been in housework positions during the year. Three hundred eighty-seven homes have been used. There have been 197 new employment applications for girls, of which 180 have been looked up and 120 used.

There have been 133 investigations of the homes of the girls newly committed to the school. The following is a summary showing from what conditions the latter came:—

Of the 133 girls committed, 72 were living in their own homes and 7 in foster homes; 40 were runaways from their homes; 72 had had previous court records; 36 had been in other institutions; 36 came from homes where there were immoral influences; 56 had both parents living.

One hundred ninety-three homes have been reinvestigated, because girls were ready to be paroled from the school, or had been petitioned for by parents or relatives. This added knowledge of developments in the family of the girl is of real value, not only if the girl goes home, but in the understanding of the relations of the girl to her family.

The problem of the girl at home is very different from that of the girl in a foster home, or one employed, for often it becomes the problem of the whole family. The relations between the girl and her visitor are different, for the girl naturally turns to her own people for sympathy, if not for advice. Often, in such cases, the visitor influences her girl through some receptive mother or sister.

Sometimes a girl thrives only at home with her own people; sometimes she is unable to stand up under the greater freedom allowed her at home. On November 30, 1921, there were 103 girls in their own homes, and of those paroled for the first time during the year, 46 went directly to their homes or to relatives.

Thirty-two girls have attended public school, — 16 in high school, 12 in grammar school, 1 in normal school, 1 in an academy, and 2 in business college. No girl has been removed from a school because of misbehavior in school. There have been no cases of truancy. Eight of these girls have remained in one home through the entire year; 6 are still in their first foster home; 5 have been entirely self-supporting during the year; and 6 have attended school from their own homes.

The public school teachers have been most kind and co-operative. The good behavior of the girls in the one high school which once refused to admit the industrial school girl has won for the girls this year a cordial welcome.

The girls have shown remarkable progress, both in their studies and in the general formation of character. They have become normal, well-living, clean-minded girls, satisfied with the everyday pleasures and the everyday duties of life.

Fifty-eight girls with babies, or who were pregnant, have been in our care during the year. Twenty-three of the 58 girls were pregnant when committed to the school. In many instances their commitment could have been avoided, principally because of their change of attitude after the birth of their children. This class of girls cannot be trained at the institution, and must be placed back in the community in about the same state of development as when committed. They are for the most part inefficient because of a lack of training, and present a difficult problem for the Department.

Girls are returned to the school most reluctantly, and only when our resources in the community are temporarily exhausted, or when the girl has become a menace to society. The reasons for return for serious cause may be roughly grouped under five heads, — immorality, stealing, running away, medical treatment, and training.

At the beginning of the year there were 41 girls at the school who had been returned. Of this number, 9 had been pregnant when committed and had returned for training. There had been no mental examination in five instances. Twenty-eight out of the 36 examined were feeble-minded or psychopaths. Thirty-six of these girls have since been placed.

Sixty-four girls have been returned to the school during the year, 8 for further training. Twenty-eight were taken out again before November 30, leaving 43 "returned girls" in the school. Of the 64 girls returned 47 were examined mentally. Thirty-six of the 47 were feeble-minded or psychopaths. Of the 43 in the Industrial School at the end of the year, 33 had been examined mentally and 23 were feeble-minded or psychopaths.

There are a large number of girls who have maintained themselves on a level of self-respect and efficiency which is most hopeful. One hundred thirteen of the 365 girls employed at housework during the year have been entirely self-supporting throughout the year. Sixty-two girls, who have been employed at housework from three months to a year, have been entirely self-supporting during that time.

It is encouraging to note that $2,317.16 more was deposited in the savings bank by the girls in 1921 than in 1920. On November 30, 1921, there were 358 accounts of girls under twenty-one years, totaling $12,977.80. Thirty girls during the year had accounts ranging from $104.84 to $320.10. Five had over $200 earned and saved by themselves, and one had $450.86 when she became twenty-one. This large sum included allotment money.

These figures are significant of the effort to inculcate habits of thrift. On the other hand, great emphasis is placed on wise spending, and girls are allowed to choose their own clothes as soon as they show signs of good judgment. The handling of their own money is a great incentive to the more thoughtful girls.

One of the most necessary services to be rendered to the girl on parole is the care of her health. Eyes, feet, throats and appendices are ever with us, clamoring for attention. During the year 540 visits have been made to the out-patient departments of hospitals. There have been 65 ward patients and 43 girls examined at the Psychopathic Hospital. Girls have consulted private physicians fifty-four times.

These visits to hospitals are inevitably so numerous that they are a great tax on the visitors' time, even when our devoted helper, Miss Field, is with us. During her long absence this last year we had the assistance of Mrs. Gould, who volunteered on certain mornings for a number of weeks, and during the vacation period the services of an extra visitor were secured temporarily, but with the increased number of girls the demands for hospital attention have necessarily increased, and the need for a regular worker becomes more insistent.

The only measure of success we know is the conduct of the girls when they pass out of the care of the trustees. Seventy-seven girls attained their majority, and 24 received honorable discharge for their constantly good behavior on parole.

Of the 101 who passed out of the trustees' care during the year, the conduct of 65 was good; of 6 was doubtful; of 4 was bad; and of 26 was unknown, because they were out of the State, runaways, or too recently out of an institution to determine which way they would turn.

A very clear need is the study of the personality — the body, the mind and the character — of all girls committed as delinquent to the care of the State, that treatment may be really intelligent, and that its results may form the basis of future action by the State.

With the constantly increasing efficiency of the technique of the Department, there has developed an unusually fine team spirit, so marked as to be worthy of comment. The constant demands of the girls upon the best one has to give are great mental and spiritual discipline to the workers, and serve to keep alight their enthusiasm.

HOUSING AND TOWN PLANNING.MIRIAM I. ROSS, *Secretary.TOWN PLANNING PROGRESS.

Town planning is one of the greatest issues in the United States to-day. It is no longer to be regarded as a fad, but is an important phase of municipal activity. It is an attempt to plan ahead, that the growth of the community may be orderly and may bring comfort and convenience to all citizens. The tendency of people to gather in small areas has brought with it real problems. Health and order and civic welfare will not come of their own accord. They must be planned for wisely, and the problem of achieving them grows as the community grows.

The civic problem of to-day is to provide for all citizens — not just a favored few — opportunity for normal living conditions, with sufficient light, air, sanitation and room for each individual, with provision also for recreation, education and esthetic development. This is the ultimate aim of town planning. The haphazard growth of cities has resulted in the necessity of replanning many areas, — a remedial method often attended by great opposition. This opposition must be overcome before much can be accomplished. Education is therefore a necessary part of town planning work.

Town planning as a scientific study did not begin until the latter half of the nineteenth century, when Paris, under the leadership of Baron Haussman, became the pioneer city. The movement soon began to spread. Germany, England and the United States became interested, and soon books were being written and actual progress was made in the town planning field. Now Japan, Brazil, Australia, Sweden, Holland, Italy, India and many other countries have their private organizations or public departments to study and improve civic conditions. Over thirty years ago the town planning movement in England was begun with the founding of Port Sunlight. The Garden City Association was started in 1900.

The first national conference on city planning was held at Washington in 1909, when it was decided to hold annual conferences on city planning in which "all organizations contributing to the developing of the science of city planning might have a part."¹

Since the beginning of the town planning movement in America, in 1893, over 200 cities have made a start in this work, and many have adopted comprehensive plans worked out under the direction of experts. Eighty-five cities and towns in the United States have taken up the study of zoning, and have zoning plans and ordinances accepted or in preparation.

In Massachusetts during the last year encouraging progress has been made. The number of planning boards is greater and the activity of local boards has increased. At the beginning of the year there were 36 active boards. There are now 47, and it is reported as probable that 11 more will be appointed soon.

On October 19 the annual conference of planning boards, called by the Governor on behalf of this Department and the Massachusetts Federation of Planning Boards, was held in Winchester. The conference was well attended and proved a great stimulus to activity.²

The Department has worked in co-operation with the Federation of Planning Boards as much as possible, and has been called upon by various planning boards for advice and suggestions. Several cities and towns where town planning is being taken up as a new study have asked for information and aid in drawing up ordinances, methods of procedure in establishing new boards, and programs of activity for the new boards when established. The Department has not been in a position to seek opportunities for service. It has tried to meet problems as they came up and to send persons seeking information away satisfied. It should be doing an active educational work. When a planning board desires to convince its community of the value of its work it should receive help and encouragement from the State. We should have a field agent who could help interested groups to convince their fellow citizens of the need for town planning, — an agent who could be of expert assistance to boards who desire to make progress.

Much has been done this year. Much more should be done in the future to make this Division function as it should.

While an ordinance or by-law is not necessary to the establishment of a planning board, many cities and towns favor this method of procedure, and in response to repeated requests for a model form of ordinance the Department is printing as Appendix B of its report on housing and town planning, published separately, a form for cities and another for towns. These may serve as a basis for local laws.

The following table shows the present status of planning boards in Massachusetts cities and towns: —

HOUSING EXPERIMENT AT LOWELL.

The housing experiment at Lowell remains in an uncompleted state. There seems to be little likelihood that the State will in the immediate future continue the building planned by the Homestead Commission. Probably the best way to get this project completed would be to turn it over to a private builder who would carry out the plans, living up to the restrictions imposed on the tract for the benefit of all the purchasers. A statement of the money paid back into the State treasury is as follows: —

Appropriation (made in 1917)	$50,000 00
Expenses:
Land purchased ¹	$12,500 00
Cost of twelve houses	28,128 77

¹ Tract of land of seven acres was purchased on which it was planned to build about forty houses.

LAWS AFFECTING THE DEPARTMENT, PASSED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF 1921.

Chapter 272, Acts of 1921, changes the amount of tuition payable to towns for State and city wards from 75 cents a week to an amount based on the per capita expenditure. Chapter 214, Acts of 1921, changes the date of settlement of tuition accounts from April 1 to July 1. Chapter 270, Acts of 1921, provides for the filing, while the original act is pending, of an application for the commitment of the defendant to a department for defective delinquents. Chapter 43 of the Resolves of 1921 provides for a special commission to recommend suitable and adequate quarters for defective delinquents.

CHAPTER 272.

AN ACT RELATIVE TO THE TUITION OF STATE WARDS AND WARDS OF THE CITY OF BOSTON.

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:

Section seven of chapter seventy-six of the General Laws is hereby amended by striking out, in the fifth, sixth and seventh lines, the words “, seventy-five cents for each week of five days, or major part thereof, of attendance in the elementary schools”, and inserting in place thereof the following: — for each day of attendance in a public elementary school an amount charged by the school committee but not at a rate in excess of the expenditure per pupil for support, exclusive of general control, of the public day elementary schools in said town for the next preceding school year based on the average membership of such schools as printed in the annual report of the department of education, — so as to read as follows: — Section 7. For the tuition in the public schools of any town of any child over five years placed elsewhere than in his home town by, or there kept under the control of, the department of public welfare or the trustees for children of Boston, the commonwealth or Boston, from its appropriation for school purposes, shall pay to said town for each day of attendance in a public elementary school an amount charged by the school committee, but not at a rate in excess of the expenditure per pupil for support, exclusive of general control, of the public day elementary schools in said town for the next preceding school year based on the average membership of such schools as printed in the annual report of the department of education, and, for attendance in a public junior or senior high school, the regular rate established by the school committee for non-resident pupils, filed with and approved by the department of education. [Approved April 12, 1921.]

CHAPTER 214.

AN ACT RELATIVE TO THE SETTLEMENT OF ACCOUNTS FOR THE TUITION OF STATE AND CITY WARDS.

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:

Section ten of chapter seventy-six of the General Laws is hereby amended by striking out, in the third line, the word "April", and inserting in place thereof the word: — July, — so as to read as follows: — Section 10. Settlements of the accounts of the several towns under the three preceding sections with the commonwealth and with Boston shall be made annually on July first, and the amounts found due shall be paid within three months thereafter. [Approved April 1, 1921.]

CHAPTER 270.

AN ACT RELATIVE TO THE COMMITMENT AND CARE OF DEFECTIVE DE-LINQUENTS.

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:

SECTION 1. Chapter one hundred and twenty-three of the General Laws is hereby amended by striking out section one hundred and thirteen and inserting in place thereof the following: — Section 113. At any time prior to the final disposition of a case in which the court might commit an offender to the state prison, the reformatory for women, any jail or house of correction, the Massachusetts reformatory, the state farm, the industrial school for boys, the industrial school for girls, the Lyman school, any county training school, or to the custody of the department of public welfare, for any offence not punishable by death or imprisonment for life, a district attorney, probation officer or officer of the department of mental diseases may file in court an application for the commitment of the defendant in such a case to a department for defective delinquents established under sections one hundred and seventeen and one hundred and twenty-four. On the filing of such application the court may continue the original case from time to time to await disposition thereof. If, on a hearing thereon, it appears that the defendant, within a period of three years, has been found guilty of an offence for which he might have been committed to any institution above named or to the custody of the department of public welfare, or that he has been adjudged a juvenile delinquent, and that he is mentally defective, and is not a proper subject for the schools for the feeble-minded or for commitment as an insane person, the court may commit him to such department for defective delinquents, according to his age and sex, as hereinafter provided.

SECTION 2. Section one hundred and seventeen of said chapter one hundred and twenty-three is hereby amended by striking out, in the first line, the words "the reformatory for women," and also by inserting after the word "may", in the second line, the word: — hereafter, — so as to read as follows: — Section 117. At the Massachusetts reformatory, the state farm or such other place or places as may hereafter be approved by the governor and council, there may be maintained departments to be termed departments for defective delinquents, for the custody of persons committed thereto under sections one hundred and thirteen to one hundred and sixteen, inclusive. All men and boys so committed shall be committed to the department for male defective delinquents. All women and girls so committed shall be committed to the department for female defective delinquents. All such persons committed to the department for defective delinquents at any institution under control of the department of correction shall be and remain in the custody of the said department until discharged as hereinafter provided. [Approved April 12, 1921.]

CHAPTER 43.

RESOLVE PROVIDING FOR AN INVESTIGATION BY A SPECIAL COMMISSION
RELATIVE TO ESTABLISHING AND PROCURING QUARTERS FOR DEFEC-TIVE DELINQUENTS.

Resolved, That the commissioner of public welfare, the commissioner of mental diseases and the commissioner of correction are hereby constituted a commission to investigate the subject of providing suitable and adequate quarters for defective delinquents, and particularly the subject matter of the resolve printed as house document number six hundred and forty-two of the current year. The commission shall report its recommendations to the next annual session of the general court not later than the second Saturday in January. [Approved May 9, 1921.]

THE FIVE INSTITUTIONS.

The five institutions in the Department of Public Welfare are: the State Infirmery at Tewksbury; the Lyman School for Boys at Westborough; the Industrial School for Boys at Shirley; the State Industrial Schools for Girls at Lancaster; and the Massachusetts Hospital School at Canton.

Under the supervision of the Department, the administration of the five institutions is arranged as follows:—

The State Infirmery is controlled by the following Board of Trustees: Galen L. Stone, Brookline, chairman; Nellie E. Talbot, Brookline, secretary; Mrs. Mary E. Cogan, Stoneham; Francis W. Anthony, M.D., Haverhill; Dennis D. Sullivan, Middleborough; Walter F. Dearborn, Cambridge; G. Forrest Martin, M.D., Lowell.

The three State training or industrial schools fall under the control of Trustees of Massachusetts Training Schools. The Board is as follows: James W. McDonald, Marlborough, chairman; Mary Josephine Bleakie, Brookline; Matthew Luce, Cohasset; Clarence J. McKenzie, Winthrop; Amy Ethel Taylor, Lexington; Charles M. Davenport, Boston; James D. Henderson, Newton; Ralph A. Stewart, Brookline; Eugene T. Connolly, Beverly; Robert J. Watson, executive secretary, 41 Mt. Vernon Street, Boston.

The Massachusetts Hospital School is controlled by the following board of Trustees: Edward H. Bradford, M.D., Boston, chairman; Leonard W. Ross, Mattapan, secretary; Walter C. Baylies, Taunton; William F. Fitzgerald, Brookline; Alfred S. Pinkerton, Worcester.

NUMBERS.

The total number of cases under care in the five institutions during the year was 8,239, a number more by 926 than the corresponding total of 1920. Of the total number, 5,768 were males and 2,471 were females. Five thousand five hundred twenty-six were under care for hospital treatment; 2,713 were juvenile delinquents. Of the hospital cases, 519 were suffering from pulmonary tuberculosis, and an average of 724 were insane. Added to the above were 468 indigent persons, having no legal settlement, cared for at the State Farm. For movement of population, see Table III.

CAPACITY.

The depletion of institution population through the abnormal demands for laborers was a marked feature of institution census in 1919 and 1920. The average daily population of the State Infirmary, where partially or totally disabled dependents are cared for, fell 160 below normal capacity in 1919, and 371 below normal in 1920.

During this year the industrial depression has caused an increase of 318 in the daily population, bringing it up to 54 below normal.

The Hospital School is 22 below normal, while the three training schools all average a little above. The largest daily census shown in the accompanying table reveals the full extent of the pressure of these schools to house the greatly increased number of juvenile delinquents.

COST OF MAINTENANCE.

The combined appropriations for the maintenance of the five institutions in 1921 were $1,537,832.77, including $43,627.23 available from receipts in 1920. In addition to these appropriations, the sum of $19,774.48 was brought forward from balances of the 1920 appropriations, giving $1,601,234.48, the amount available for maintenance in 1921. The total expenditures on the same account were $1,569,372.37. Of the sum expended, $597,943.73 was for salaries, wages and labor; all other expenses, $971,428.64. For the coming year the respective Boards of Trustees submit estimates for maintenance appropriations, as shown in Table I. Estimates for special purposes will be considered later in this report under each of the institutions separately.

COMPARATIVE VIEW OF MOVEMENT OF POPULATION AND OF EXPENDITURES.

The movement of population in the five institutions is shown in brief but comparative form in Table II. Inmates are classified by sex, while the daily average attendance appears in a column adjoining the average number of officers and employees. The average number of persons employed, shown in this table, is obtained from an exact analysis of the pay rolls, reducing all employment to a basis of days. Table III affords comparative view of expenditures at all the institutions, classified as "current" and "extraordinary." Tables II and III are drawn in accordance with the statistical form adopted by the National Conference of Social Work, May 15, 1906.

During the year 5,172 persons have been under care, — 3,382 males and 1,790 females, — 1,032 more than in 1920, and 470 more than in 1919. The largest daily census was 2,492, the smallest, 2,163, the daily average being 2,297. For the preceding year the corresponding figures were 2,154 and 1,839, with the daily average of 1,979. This year marks the largest average since 1916.

Four thousand two hundred sixty-two cases, of which 2,920 were males and 1,342 females, were treated in the general hospital wards. In this number were 519 cases of pulmonary tuberculosis, 12 of diphtheria, 4 of measles, 3 of erysipelas and one of scarlet fever. Of the 421 deaths, 385 in the general hospital department and 36 in the department for the insane, 102 were from tuberculosis.

Of the 519 cases of pulmonary tuberculosis in the consumptive ward, 425 cases were males and 94 females. Classification on admission was as follows: incipient cases, 3; moderately advanced, 141; first stage, 15; arrested, 3; far advanced, 180. The conditions of patients on discharge were as follows: 167 relieved; 79 died; 30 not relieved; 12 arrested.

Thirty-nine cases of other forms of tuberculosis were treated. Adding these to the 21 cases of tuberculosis among the insane, a grand total of 579 cases of tuberculosis have been treated, — 132 more than the previous year.

One hundred seventy-one surgical operations were performed.

Of the 131 births at this institution during the year, 67 were males and 64 were females. Of this number there were 130 living births, namely, 67 males and 63 females. Among the mothers of these children 95 were born in the United States, 6 in Ireland, 9 in British Provinces and 21 in other countries. For an account of this Department's work with mother and baby cases at this institution, see page 30.

Six hundred seventy-two children were attending the school during the year in 30 different classes.

In the insane department of this institution there was a daily average during the year of 724 persons, — 210 males and 514 females. There were 37 deaths. Of the 146 admitted 49 were inebriates.

The drug cases have been treated by complete withdrawal of whatever drug has been taken and catharsis followed by tonic treatment for a varying length of time, according to the requirement of each case, from two to three weeks, after which the patient is required to do some sort of work. It then depends mostly upon the make-up of the patient himself whether he will continue the use of the drug or not. There have been no ill results, although there is a period of discomfort at first, varying from three to five days. Alcoholic cases are treated in the same way to a considerable extent.

With an appropriation of $899,635.39, a total of $882,807.19 was expended for the maintenance of this institution. Of the amount expended, $319,729.03 was for salaries, wages and labor; all other expenses, $563,078.16. Weekly per capita cost of maintenance, computed on expenses less sales and refunds from maintenance, $7.353. Total receipts from all sources other than the State treasury, $66,427.19. Net cost of maintenance to the Commonwealth, $816,380. Ratio of daily average number of persons employed to daily average number of inmates, 1 to 5.5. For detailed analysis of receipts and expenditures, see pages 114 to 130. The trustees estimate that $956,335 will be necessary for maintenance in 1922. (See table, page 94.)

For the coming year the trustees submit the following estimate, with a request for special appropriations covering the same: —

1. General hospital extension	$187,500
2. Employees' quarters extension	76,689
3. Waiting room	4,944
4. Gymnasium	87,550

ALMSHOUSE DEPARTMENT AT THE STATE FARM, BRIDGEWATER.

HOLLIS M. BLACKSTONE, Superintendent.

Provides almshouse care for indigent persons not chargeable to any city or town.

Under chapter 199, General Acts of 1919, this institution was transferred to the Bureau of Prisons, now the Department of Correction, August 27, 1919. The data following are for the fiscal year ending November 30, 1921: —

During the year 468 cases have been cared for. Largest daily census, 315; daily average, 243.

Number of admissions during the year, 242. The total number of cases leaving the institution during the year, whether by death or discharge, was 116. The deaths numbered 37.

LYMAN SCHOOL FOR BOYS, WESTBOROUGH.

CHARLES A. KEELER, Superintendent.

Total valuation of plant, real and personal, $613,333.99. Normal capacity, 460. Value per unit of capacity, $1,333.33.

Provides custodial care and industrial training for delinquent boys under fifteen years of age. Cottage plan.

During the year 1,493 cases have been under care, representing 992 separate individuals. This total number of cases is 233 more than in 1920 and 106 less than in 1919. The number in the school at the beginning of the year was 454; admissions numbered 1,039. The number of boys returned to the school this year for cause is 458, an increase of 125 over 1920, due largely to the industrial conditions. Discharges, 1,028; remainder at the close of the year, 465. The daily average number of inmates was 467.35, — 28 more than in 1920. This has tested our normal capacity and has necessitated an early parole in many cases which may also be a contributing cause for such a large number of boys being recalled to the school. At one time during the year there were 513 boys in residence.

The list of causes of admission in the 1,039 cases received during the year was as follows: assault, 2; breaking and entering, 98; delinquent child, 84; larceny, 104; returned from funerals, 10; returned from visits to sick relatives, 8; returned from places of parole, 458; running away, 15; returned from hospitals, 51; returned from court, 1; vagrancy, 2; forgery, 1; truancy, 2; receiving stolen property, 1; custody of Division of Child Guardianship, 6; setting fires, 3; returned from visit home at Christmas, 10; stubbornness, 23; runaways captured, 160.

Three hundred thirty-eight of the foregoing cases were committed by the courts. Of this number, 288 had been arrested before, and 100 had been inmates of other institutions. Forty-four, or 13 per cent, were of American parentage; 178, or 52 per cent, were foreign born; and 44, or 13 per cent, were unknown. Twenty-four of the boys were foreign born, while 311 were born in the United States.

Of the new commitments this year, 34 boys were eleven years of age and 28 under eleven. These young boys are taken care of in two cottages, one seven and the other three miles from the main school. They do not mingle with the older boys.

This year the average period of stay of boys paroled for first time at Lyman School was decreased from 11.74 months to 11.11 months.

Of the 1,028 cases discharged or released during the year, 446 were released on parole to parents and relatives; on parole to others than relatives, 165; boarded out, 141; runaways, 170; sent to hospitals, 56; turned over to police, 2; transferred to other institutions, 15; released to funerals, 10; released to visit sick relatives, 10; released to navy, 2; released home for Christmas, 10; died, 1.

With an appropriation of $236,047.86, a total of $232,431.40 was expended for the maintenance of this institution. Of the amount expended, $92,129.83 was for salaries, wages and labor; all other expenses, $140,301.57. Weekly per capita cost of maintenance, computed on expenses less sales and refunds from maintenance, $9.533. Total receipts from all sources other than the State treasury, $248. Net cost of maintenance to the Commonwealth, $232,183.40. Ratio of daily average number of persons employed to daily average number of inmates, 1 to 4.4. The trustees estimate that $231,119 will be necessary for maintenance in 1922. (See table, page 94.) For detailed analysis of receipts and expenditures, see pages 114 to 130.

The boys spend one-half of each day in some educational work which will be of service to them when they leave the school. The carpentry class teaches sufficient knowledge of carpentry so that many have left the school to work with building and manufacturing firms. The printing class issues a school paper regularly. The shoe department manufactures all the shoes and slippers for the school and for the Industrial School for Boys. The painting class has repainted the interior of six cottages and has done other necessary work at the school.

There is still great need for a large building at the school to be used for laundry, kitchen and storage.

For the coming year the trustees submit the following estimate, with request for a special appropriation covering the same:—

For the construction of a fireproof general storehouse equipped with refrigeration, and for central kitchen and laundry . $104,500

INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL FOR BOYS, SHIRLEY.

GEORGE P. CAMPBELL, Superintendent.

Total valuation of plant, real and personal, $508,909.74. Normal capacity of plant, 280. Value per unit of capacity, $1,817.53.

Provides custodial care and industrial training for boys over fifteen and under twenty-one years of age. Only boys under eighteen may be admitted.

Owing, perhaps, to the industrial depression, there has been a marked increase in the number of commitments and in the number of boys returned for failure on parole.

During the year 699 cases have been cared for, representing 658 separate individuals. This total number of cases is 68 more than in the preceding year. The number in the school at the beginning of the year was 232. Admissions numbered 467; discharges, 382; remainder at the close of the year, 317. The largest daily census was 318; the smallest, 232; daily average, 288.23.

The list of causes of admission for 352 commitments of the 467 cases received during the year was as follows: assault, 3; assault and battery, 4; breaking and entering, 13; breaking and entering and larceny, 92; forgery, 1; idle and disorderly, 6; larceny, 117; stubborn and disobedient, 56; unlawful use of automobile, 10; vagrancy, 8; miscellaneous, 9; receiving stolen property, 4; carrying revolver or other dangerous weapon, 7; drunkenness, 3; not determined, transfers, etc., 15; runaways, 4.

Three hundred thirty-eight of the foregoing cases were committed by the courts, and 14 were transferred from Lyman School. Of the boys thus committed, 274 had been in court before, and 111 had been inmates of other institutions. Forty-five, or 13.3 per cent, were foreign born; 306, or 86.3 per cent, were born in the United States, and 1 unknown. Ninety-four were of American parentage, 187 of foreign parentage, and 19 were of unknown parentage. The average length of stay of boys in the school was nine and one-half months. The average population of 288.23 was more than the average of the preceding year by 67.07.

THE INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL FOR BOYS, SHIRLEY.
Assembly Hall.

Most of these boys are well developed physically, and need much work to take care of their surplus energy. The offences for which many of them are committed are very serious, and requires a strenuous effort to keep the boys from developing into criminals. The boys do a great part of the work about the large farm, and during the past year succeeded in supplying the greater part of all the food used in the school.

It has been possible during the past year to assign to an experienced man the sole task of guiding the boys through their course in the school, placing them after careful consideration of their desires and abilities in shop or school and lending a sympathetic and understanding ear to all their difficulties.

Of the 382 boys discharged or released during the year, 261 were paroled; returned paroles placed out, 85; granted leave of absence, 8; transferred to Lyman School for Boys, 3; transferred to Massachusetts Reformatory, 5; transferred to other institutions, not penal, 9; returned to court, over or under age, 3; absent without leave, 8.

There has been a decided drop in the mentality of boys committed, about 40 per cent being able to do only fifth-grade work or less in academic courses. The number of definitely feeble-minded boys, always a problem, has increased. Apparently many courts, confronted with the case of a feeble-minded boy who obviously is not fitted for the institution for feeble-minded, commit him to us as a last resort. Such lads cannot profit greatly by the training here and are a drawback to the life of the school.

On December 1, 1921, about one-third of the population was composed of boys who had been trained at this or other institutions previous to their present admission. It is hoped that with better economic conditions the number of boys of this sophisticated type will be greatly reduced, thus giving a freer opportunity for work with new material.

Out of an appropriation of $150,700.87, a total of $149,880.93 was expended for the maintenance of this institution. Of this amount expended, $57,764.48 was for salaries, wages and labor; all other expenses, $92,116.45. Weekly per capita cost of maintenance, computed on expenses less sales and refunds from maintenance, $9.934. Total receipts from all sources other than the State treasury, $657.12. Net cost of maintenance to the Commonwealth, $149,223.81. Ratio of daily average number of persons employed to daily average number of inmates, 1 to 4.2. The trustees estimate that $155,220 will be necessary for maintenance in 1922. (See table, page 94.) For detailed analysis of receipts and expenditures, see pages 114 to 130.

There is pressing need for a new infirmary building.

For the coming year the trustees submit the following estimate, with request for a special appropriation covering the same:

For the construction of an infirmary and hospital building . $48,700

INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL FOR GIRLS, LANCASTER.

CATHARINE M. CAMPBELL, Superintendent.

Total valuation of plant, real and personal, $467,458.59. Normal capacity of plant, 299. Value per unit of capacity, $1,563.40. Founded in 1854 as a private institution. Taken over by the State in 1856.

Provides custodial care and industrial training for delinquent girls under seventeen years of age at time of commitment.

During the year 521 girls have been under care. This total is 33 less than in 1920. The number in the school at the beginning of the year was 321; admissions during the year, 200; discharged, including all persons going out of the school, 236; remaining November 30, 1921, 285.

The largest daily census was 329; smallest, 276; daily average, 303.67.

The list of causes of admission for 133 commitments of the 200 cases received at the school during the year was as follows: adultery, 1; being a runaway, 10; delinquency, 25; fornication, 11; idle and disorderly, 6; larceny, 11; lewdness, 15; stubbornness, 45; wayward child, 1; leading an idle, vagrant and vicious life, 5; nightwalking, 3.

Recalled to the school, 126, — for a visit to the school, 21; on account of illness, 6; from hospital, 22; for further training, 7; for larceny, 7; for running away from the school, 8; for running away from home, 3; from a visit home, 5; from court,

3; for being immoral while a runaway, 11; for immoral conduct, 20; because in danger of immoral conduct, 4; for running away from place, 5; because unsatisfactory in place, 4.

One hundred seven individual girls were returned during the year. Of the 295 girls discharged or released during the year, 64 were released on parole to parents and relatives; on parole to other families for wages, 142; on parole to other families to attend school, earning wages, 8; from a visit at the school, 21; for a visit, 5; to court, 3; ran away from Industrial School, 9; transferred to hospitals, 41; transferred to schools for the feeble-minded, 1; transferred to hospital for the insane, 1. Two hundred sixty-three individual girls were released during the year.

The average length of stay in the school of the girls who were paroled for the first time in 1921 was two years, one month, five days. The longer period of training as compared with that in the boys' schools enables the superintendent to know the inmates better; gives an opportunity for more efficient training; and increases the pupil's chances of making good on parole.

Many of the girls are not normal mentally, and for that reason are not proper subjects for this school. It is a very difficult thing to transfer these girls elsewhere.

The more backward girls live for the most part in a separate cottage a few miles from the main school, and are given training best suited to their particular needs. This separation within the institution must continue, pending the time when proper classification can be effected before commitment.

With an appropriation of $162,811.07, a total of $160,537.33 was expended for the maintenance of this institution. Of the amount expended, $58,378.63 was for salaries, wages and labor; all other expenses, $102,158.70. Weekly per capita cost of maintenance, computed on expenses less sales and refunds from maintenance, $10.114. Total receipts from all sources other than the State treasury, $377.38. Net cost of maintenance to the Commonwealth, $160,159.95. Ratio of daily average number of persons employed to daily average number of inmates, 1 to 4.3. The trustees estimate that $160,633.50 will be necessary for maintenance in 1922. (See table, page 94.) For detailed analysis of receipts and expenditures, see pages 114 to 130.

The request for special appropriations covering the following items is also requested:—

MASSACHUSETTS HOSPITAL SCHOOL, CANTON.

JOHN E. FISH, M.D., Superintendent.

Opened December 1, 1907. Total valuation of plant, real and personal, $491,738.16. Normal capacity of plant, 302. Value per unit of capacity, $1,628.27.

Provides care and schooling for crippled and deformed children. Crippled and deformed children of the Commonwealth between ages of five and fifteen, and mentally competent to attend the public schools, are eligible for admission.

There were 354 cases under care during the year. This total is 20 less than in 1920, and 14 more than in 1919.

On December 1, 1920, there were 294 children, namely, 161 boys and 133 girls, in the school. Sixty were admitted and 71 discharged during the year. The maximum number at any one time was 303, the minimum, 206, and the daily average, 279.62, — an increase of 5.18 over the preceding year. Two hundred eighty-three remained in residence at the close of the year.

The training of the average cripple is necessarily protracted, and should commence as early as possible. Furthermore, the influences which surround a crippled child at home are not helpful to a feeling of independence, and the work of education should begin at a time when these harmful influences have done the least evil. The girls are taught cooking, sewing, general housework, laundering and similar domestic arts as a routine course for all, while a few selected cases are assigned to office work, the telephone desk, typewriting, etc. Farming, gardening, the care of poultry, work in the dairy, an apprenticeship with the baker, engineer, carpenter, painter, storeman, tailor, cobbler, chauffeur and other necessary employees, afford educational opportunities of value to many of the older boys.

Sixty-one per cent of the discharged cases are able to maintain creditable standing in other schools or are successful wage earners. Many graduates enter public high schools without conditions, and a few have obtained such a grasp of scholarship as to give promise of becoming men and women of broad culture. It is obvious that heredity and environment are as influential in the cripple as in children without physical handicap, and that the scholastic work of the school has been notably successful as shown by the record of its graduates. This success is largely due to the sympathetic prompting to perseverance given by the teachers when without encouragement children fighting against heavy odds would have given up disheartened.

Out of an appropriation of $152,039.29, a total of $143,715.52 was expended for the maintenance of this institution. Of the amount expended, $69,941.76 was for salaries, wages and labor; all other expenses, $73,773.76. Weekly per capita cost of maintenance, computed on expenses less sales and refunds from maintenance, $9.834. Total receipts from all sources other than the State treasury, $47,532.15. Net cost of maintenance to the Commonwealth, $96,183.37. Ratio of daily average number of persons employed to daily average number of inmates, 1 to 3.3. The trustees estimate the sum of $174,250 for maintenance in 1922. (See table, page 94.) For detailed analysis of receipts and expenditures, see pages 114 to 130.

FINANCIAL SUPERVISION OF THE INSTITUTIONS.

The Department in its supervision of the financial administration of the five institutions — the plant and its upkeep and maintenance — inspects each institution through paid officers monthly.

Monthly analysis is made of articles of food, coal, hay and grain purchased, and tabulated results sent to each institution.

In addition, sundry tabulations covering the year's operations have been prepared. The Department has co-operated with the several institutions in bringing about the joint consideration of purchasing supplies, resulting in regular conferences upon matters of common interest, especially functions of purchasing.

The following tables are designed to show in detail the financial condition of each institution. A convenient summary of the State's property represented by each institution is followed by a comparison of all appropriations and the expenditures made therefrom.

I. INVENTORY.

Inventory of State property represented by the institution is shown in Table IV. This tabulation is in four parts. Parts I and II exhibit realty; Part III shows personalty; Part IV summarizes the whole.

From Parts I and II it appears that on November 30, 1921, the five institutions returned $3,301,772.94 in real estate, $176,024.57 of this amount being land, and $3,125,748.37 representing buildings. Chattels real and other items of betterment are not separately considered; hence, water, telephone, fire and sewerage systems are to be found in the miscellaneous columns under the heading of "buildings."

Part III shows the uniform analysis of personal property adopted by the State Auditor, to the amount of $834,592.22. The total valuation, real and personal, as shown in Part IV is $4,136,365.16.

II. RECEIPTS.

Table V is designed to show every item of income to each institution from whatever source for whatever purpose, excepting certain private funds, casting all together for ready comparison. The tabulation also shows such of the receipts as under the law are available for maintenance purposes in 1922. According to this table the total receipts from all sources were $1,796,363.85. Of this amount, $1,681,122.01 was received from the State treasury, and the remainder, $115,241.84, came in on account of the institution, through board of patients, sale of products or otherwise. Of this latter figure, $46,927.91 is available for maintenance purposes in 1922.

TABLE V. — Receipts of the Institutions during the Fiscal Year ending November 30, 1921.

III. EXPENDITURES.

Table VI, divided into three parts, shows all expenditures of whatever nature on account of the several institutions. Part I deals with maintenance only. Part II exhibits outlays for special purposes, divided into four headings, namely, "land," "buildings," "furnishing and equipping" and "miscellaneous." Part III summarizes Parts I and II, and adds thereto the amounts expended from trust funds held by the Treasurer of the Commonwealth.

The table shows that $1,569,372.37 was spent for maintenance, exclusive of expenditures for special purposes mentioned in Part II, which amounted to $110,745.29.

In addition to the expenditures as above indicated, two institutions — Lyman School for Boys and the Industrial School for Girls — have private trust funds which are administered for the benefit of inmates, but independently of the State's investment. The custody of each is vested in the State Treasurer, whose duty it is to invest the same and to pay therefrom at the request of the trustees. Three of these trusts — the Lyman fund, the Lyman trust fund and the Lamb fund — apply to Lyman School for Boys, while the Fay, the Mary Lamb and the Rogers book fund pertain to the Industrial School for Girls. From these sources a total of $1,004.35 was expended during the year, of which $100 was from the Fay fund, $62.68 from the Mary Lamb fund, and $841.67 from the Lyman Trust fund. By adding to the amounts given ($1,004.35) for trust funds, as shown in Part III, we find a grand total of $1,681,122.01 expended on account of the five institutions.

IV. ANALYSIS OF MAINTENANCE AND NET PER CAPITA COST.

The uniform analysis of maintenance expenditures comprises twelve classes or divisions, namely, "salaries and wages;" "religious instruction;" "travel, transportation and office expenses;" "food;" "clothing and materials;" "furnishings and household supplies;" "medical and general care;" "heat, light and power;" "farm;" "garage, stable and grounds;" "repairs, ordinary;" and "repairs and renewals." Table VII is correspondingly divided into thirteen parts, the last of which is a summary of the whole, and shows for each of the five institutions the total cost of maintenance for each of the main headings in the analysis. It further shows all receipts from sales or refunds; the difference, which is the net cost to the institution; and the average net weekly per capita cost to the institution, with a column showing the corresponding per capita for the three-year period just ended.

V. COMPARISON OF APPROPRIATIONS AND EXPENDITURES THEREFROM.

Table VIII affords comparisons of appropriations for maintenance with the respective amounts expended therefrom. Appropriations are classified as "receipts available for maintenance," "appropriations in addition to such receipts," and "balance brought forward from 1920 appropriation." All receipts at the Hospital School, though turned, like the receipts of all the other institutions, into the State treasury, are by law applicable to maintenance in the succeeding year. Receipts at the remaining institutions are not so applied. By this comparison the total maintenance expenditures were $31,862.11 less than the amounts appropriated. This balance reverts into the treasury.

Receipts of 1920 available for maintenance in 1921, $43,627.23. This sum was received on account of board of patients at the Massachusetts Hospital School.

VI. APPROPRIATIONS FOR SPECIAL PURPOSES.

The total of appropriations for special purposes during 1921 as shown by Table IX was $189,500. In addition to this amount the several institutions began the year with a total of $94,834.55, unexpended balance on previous special appropriations. The grand total available for 1921 was, therefore, $284,334.55. The amount expended from this total was $110,745.29, leaving an unexpended balance of $173,589.26, of which $173,479.46 will be available in 1922. The remainder of $109.80 reverts to the State treasury.

VII. NET COST TO THE COMMONWEALTH.

The net cost to the State of maintaining or conducting each institution is the difference between the total expenditures and the total receipts from all sources other than the State treasury. These total expenditures must cover all moneys spent for maintenance and special purposes, together with interest on outstanding bonds. These items are compared in Table X. For convenience, the daily average number of inmates and the net weekly per capita cost to the State are added. This tabulation shows a daily average number of inmates of 3,635.87, and expenditures for all purposes of $1,710,399.48. Total receipts from institutions, i.e., sources other than the State treasury, amounted to $115,241.84. The net cost to the State for all five institutions amounted to $1,595,157.64, making the net weekly per capita cost to the State, $8.413.

VIII. ANALYSIS OF PAY ROLL.

Table XI, divided into six parts, shows a comparative analysis of the pay roll for each of the five institutions. The first five parts divide service into five classes, namely, "general administration," "medical service," "ward service," "farm, stable and grounds" and "repairs." Part VI summarizes the whole. The table shows the daily average number employed in 1920 and 1921, with the same average for the three-year period ending November 30, 1920. The same treatment is given the average monthly compensation and the weekly per capita cost. The total average number employed was 687.214, while for the three-year period preceding 1921 it was 616.149, and 619.358 in 1920. The total average monthly compensation paid was $356.048, as against $293.145 in the preceding three-year period, and $335.419 in 1920. Miscellaneous and incidental employment not entered upon the pay rolls of the institutions does not appear in this tabulation. The number of inmates to one employee averages about the same as last year in most of the institutions.

THE COUNTY TRAINING SCHOOLS.

Under the provisions of General Laws, chapter 77, section 2, the five county training schools for truants and habitual school offenders are subject to the visitation of this Department, which is required to report thereon in its annual report. The schools are as follows:—

Essex County Training School, Lawrence.

Hampden County Training School, Springfield.

Middlesex County Training School, North Chelmsford.

Norfolk, Bristol and Plymouth Union Training School, Walpole.

Worcester County Training School, Oakdale (West Boylston).

The accompanying table shows the number and movement of population in these institutions for the fiscal year ending December 31, 1921, and also the average weekly per capita cost of maintenance, subtracting all receipts from private sources.

As will be seen from the table there were 578 children in the five schools during 1921. The year opened with 381. In the succeeding twelve months 197 were admitted and 224 were discharged, leaving 354 in residence at the close of the year. This figure is 27 less than the corresponding number for 1920.

The average age of the children at the time of their admittance was thirteen years, two months and twenty-three days. Every child must be discharged, by requirement of the statute, upon reaching the age of sixteen.

SUPERVISION OF THE SETTLED POOR RELIEVED OR SUPPORTED BY CITIES AND TOWNS.

THE CITY AND TOWN POOR.

The law provides that the Department of Public Welfare may visit and inspect all places where city or town poor are supported in families, and requires the Department to visit, at least once a year, not only all children who are maintained by the Commonwealth, but all minor children who are supported at the expense of any city or town. Children illegally retained in city or town almshouses, — i.e., children over two years of age, or, if the mothers are inmates, over three years of age, and not defective in body or mind, who have been retained in an almshouse for more than two months — must be removed therefrom and placed at board at the expense of the city or town concerned. (General Laws, chapter 117, sections 3, 36, 37 and 38; chapter 121, section 16.)

The following data show numbers and location of the various classes of persons coming within the scope of this statute:—

THE SETTLED ADULT POOR PROVIDED FOR IN FAMILIES.

Of the 219 adult poor persons reported by local authority as fully supported in families on January 1, 1921, 17 had died and 3 had been removed before visits could be made. The remaining 199 — 79 men and 120 women — were all visited and reported on by the Department's agents. They were supported by 107 cities and towns, as follows: Abington, 1; Acton, 1; Acushnet, 1; Arlington, 3; Ashland, 1; Athol, 1; Attleboro, 2; Belmont, 1; Berlin, 1; Blandford, 1; Bolton, 1; Boylston, 1; Braintree, 4; Brewster, 4; Burlington, 1; Charlemont, 1; Charlton, 1; Chatham, 5; Chelsea, 1; Cheshire, 1; Chicopee, 1; Clarksburg, 1; Colrain, 1; Danvers, 4; Dedham, 1; Dighton, 2; Dracut, 1; Dudley, 2; Edgartown, 4; Enfield, 2; Everett, 3; Falmouth, 1; Fitchburg, 1; Gardner, 1; Gill, 1; Great Barrington, 5; Greenwich, 1; Hardwick, 2; Hawley, 2; Hingham, 1; Holbrook, 2; Hopedale, 2; Hull, 2; Kingston, 2; Lanesborough, 1; Lawrence, 4; Leverett, 2; Littleton, 2; Marion, 1; Marlborough, 2; Medford, 3; Melrose, 2; Med-

Their ages were as follows: 1 between twenty and thirty; 2 between thirty and forty; 16 between forty and fifty; 22 between fifty and sixty; 40 between sixty and seventy; 70 between seventy and eighty; 45 between eighty and ninety; 3 ninety or over. For their support they were paid in 3 cases less than $2 per week; in 10 cases from $2 to $3 per week; in 30 cases from $3 to $4 per week; and in 156 cases — mostly of old and feeble persons — the rate varied from $4 to $22, according to the amount of care required. Of the whole number 54 per cent were reported to be in fairly good or good physical condition, and 88 per cent in good mental condition. In all but one case, they were apparently receiving good care. There were 58 able to do light work, either in the house or about the premises. There were 2 supported in their own homes. In 93 cases, according to the reports, the overseers of the poor complied with the law requiring them to visit these persons at least once in every six months; in 75 cases they made one visit a year; and in the remaining 33 cases no evidence of visits was found.

DEPENDENT MINOR CHILDREN WITH SETTLEMENT PROVIDED FOR IN ALMSHOUSES.

Visits were made in the cases of 144 children — 54 boys and 90 girls — reported as cared for by the following cities and towns in their almshouses: Belchertown, 2; Beverly, 1; Boston, 71; Brockton, 1; Cambridge, 4; Easthampton, 3; Fall River, 2; Holyoke, 9; Lawrence, 3; Leominster, 1; Lowell, 2;

In addition to this number 75 had been removed from the almshouse before the time of visitation. Of the number visited 67 were so defective in mind or body as to render their retention in the almshouse desirable; 6 attended school, and one assisted in the almshouse. Three were visited twice, and 12 were removed after visit.

DEPENDENT MINOR CHILDREN WITH SETTLEMENT PROVIDED FOR OUTSIDE OF ALMSHOUSES.

As shown by the Department's visitation of the 1,097 children reported by the local authorities as fully supported outside the almshouses on January 1, 1921, and on July 1, 1921, 37 had been removed before visits could be made. The remaining 1,060 — 567 boys and 493 girls — were supported by 89 cities and towns, as follows: Abington, 1; Adams, 2; Attleborough, 8; Barnstable, 2; Barre, 5; Beverly, 2; Boston, 576; Braintree, 3; Brockton, 19; Brookline, 14; Cambridge, 26; Chelmsford, 1; Chelsea, 8; Chicopee, 11; Clinton, 1; Colrain, 1; Concord, 2; Conway, 1; Cummington, 3; Dartmouth, 2; Dedham, 7; Easthampton, 1; Easton, 1; Essex, 1; Fall River, 1; Fitchburg, 6; Framingham, 5; Gardner, 9; Gloucester, 4; Great Barrington, 3; Greenfield, 1; Hamilton, 1; Hardwick, 7; Hopkinton, 7; Lawrence, 27; Leominster, 2; Lynn, 19; Malden, 1; Mansfield, 6; Marblehead, 2; Marlborough, 1; Maynard, 5; Medford, 6; Methuen, 5; Milford, 1; Millville, 1; Milton, 1; Nantucket, 1; Natick, 2; Needham, 3; New Bedford, 66; Newton, 1; North Andover, 2; North Attleborough, 3; Norwell, 3; Oakham, 2; Oxford, 3; Peabody, 1; Quincy, 13; Raynham, 4; Revere, 1; Rockland, 3; Royalston, 7; Rutland, 1; Salem, 9; Saugus, 1; Sharon, 2; Shelburne, 5; Somerset, 1; Somerville, 14; Southbridge, 5; Sutton, 1; Taunton, 2; Townsend, 1; Wakefield, 2; Waltham, 3; Wareham, 2; Warren, 1; Watertown, 18; Webster, 3; Wellfleet, 1; West Boylston, 3; West Springfield, 7; Westfield, 15; Westport, 1; Weymouth, 2; Whitman, 2; Winchendon, 1; Worcester, 21.

THE PENALTY INCURRED BY CERTAIN CITIES AND TOWNS FOR FAILURE TO MAKE THEIR PAUPER RETURNS DURING THE MONTH OF APRIL, 1921.

Sections 32 to 35 of chapter 117 of the General Laws reads as follows: —

SECTION 32. Overseers shall keep full and accurate records, in a form prescribed by the department of public welfare, of paupers fully supported, persons relieved and partially supported, and travelers and vagrants lodged at the expense of their towns, and of the amount paid for such support and relief.

SECTION 33. They shall annually, in April, for the year ending on the last day of March, return to the department of public welfare the number of such persons supported and relieved, the cost thereof, and a record of those fully supported.

SECTION 34. In the year nineteen hundred and twenty-five and in every tenth year thereafter the return of the overseers shall contain true and correct answers to such additional inquiries as the department may deem it advisable to make.

SECTION 35. If the overseers refuse or neglect to comply with the requirements of the three preceding sections, their town shall forfeit one dollar for each day's neglect; and the amount of such forfeiture on being certified by the department to the state treasurer shall be deducted from any amount to which said town may be entitled in reimbursement for relief of state paupers as provided in sections twelve and eighteen of chapter one hundred and twenty-two; and if no such reimbursement shall be due to said town, the forfeiture shall be deducted from any money which may be due to it from the commonwealth.

REPORT

OF THE

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WELFARE

PART II

CHARITABLE CORPORATIONS

The Department of Public Welfare endorses no private charitable organization or agency. This rule is absolute, regardless of the known standing of any such society. Inspection and the publication of the annual return in this volume do not mean approval; on the contrary, inspection may mean the discovery of conditions calling for condemnation. No agency is warranted, therefore, in using the fact of inspection in such manner as to lead the public to believe that the Department has approved or in any sense recommends its work.

PRIVATE CHARITABLE CORPORATIONS.

Government supervision of private charitable corporations is provided in three legislative enactments, the first of which requires the Department of Public Welfare to investigate all petitions for charitable charters, while the second and third call for annual inspection and annual reporting. In the following pages of this part of the report the functions of the Department and the year's work under these several statutes are explained. This statement is followed by abstracts of the annual returns of the various charities in a form intended to serve as a handbook of all the incorporated charities of the Commonwealth.

Investigation of Charitable Organizations seeking Incorporation.

GENERAL LAWS, CHAPTER 180, SECTION 6.

Before making and issuing a certificate for the incorporation of a charitable corporation the state secretary shall also forward the statement described in the preceding section to the department of public welfare, which shall immediately make an investigation as to the applicants for incorporation and as to the purposes thereof, and any other material facts relative thereto, and shall give them a public hearing, notice of which shall be published once a week for three successive weeks in some paper published in the county where the corporation is to have its principal office or rooms, and if said office or rooms are to be in Boston, in some Boston daily paper, the last publication to be at least three days before the day set for the hearing, and shall forthwith report to the state secretary all the facts ascertained by it. If it appears to him from said report or otherwise that the probable purpose of the formation of the proposed corporation is to cover any illegal business, or that the persons asking for incorporation are not suitable persons, from lack of financial ability or from any other cause, he shall refuse to issue his certificate. If he refuses, the applicants may appeal to the superior court, which shall hear the case and finally determine whether or not the certificate of incorporation shall be issued.

Inspection of Charitable Corporations.

Chapter 121 of the General Laws requires the Department of Public Welfare to make annual inspection of charitable corporations which consent to said inspection. The text of the law as included in section 7 of the said chapter is as follows:—

GENERAL LAWS, CHAPTER 121, SECTION 7.

. . . It [Department of Public Welfare] shall upon the request or with the consent of a charitable corporation which, under section twelve of chapter one hundred and eighty, is required to make an annual report to said department, at least once a year, visit and inspect the institution or investigate the work of such corporation. . . .

Two hundred sixty-one inspections have been made during the past year, involving numerous conferences with directors and many visits to institutions.

There have been 461 inquiries in regard to particular agencies and general matters connected with the field of private charity.

Number and Classification of Incorporated Charities in Massachusetts.

Of the 917 charitable corporations which made returns to this Department during 1921, 107 are homes for the aged; 112 are child-helping agencies; 185 are hospitals or other institutions for aiding the sick; 160 are agencies giving family aid; and 129 are organizations doing neighborhood and club work. The remaining 224 corporations form a miscellaneous group chiefly civic or eleemosynary in their nature.

An analysis of the returns made in 1921 shows the total capital, real and personal, of all these charities to be $141,485,-726.69. Incumbrances on real estate came to but $6,607,801.76. The total receipts for the year were $33,807,933.83, of which $11,345,411.51 came from beneficiaries and $4,661,864.82 from investments. The total outgo for all purposes for the year was $33,079,681.39. These agencies reported 14,343 paid employees. Instances of aid, though of little value as a total for statistical purposes, indicate that this group of charities during the year in question rendered some sort of charitable assistance to about 1,750,000 separate individuals.

Annual Reports of Charitable Corporations.

The law provides that every charitable corporation must make to this Department an annual report on or before the first day of November in each year, and further provides that if any corporation fails for two successive years to make the report, the Supreme Court may decree its dissolution. The text of the law is as follows:—

GENERAL LAWS, CHAPTER 180, SECTION 12.

A charitable corporation whose personal property is exempt from taxation shall annually, on or before November first, make to the department of public welfare a written report for its last financial year, showing its property, its receipts and expenditures, the whole number and the average number of its beneficiaries and such other information as the department requires. If any corporation subject to this section fails for two successive years to file said report, the supreme judicial court, upon application by the department, after notice and hearing, may decree a dissolution of the corporation.

Abstracts of reports of corporations for the last financial year available are given on the following pages. The reports are arranged by towns, in alphabetical order under each town.

Reports from 221 corporations which do not fall strictly within the scope of the Department's publication are on file, but are not here printed. Their names will be found in the alphabetical list of reporting corporations.

REPORT
OF THE
DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WELFARE

PART III

THE CITY AND TOWN ALMSHOUSES
AND
STATISTICS OF POOR RELIEF

THE CITY AND TOWN ALMSHOUSES.

FRANCIS BARDWELL, Inspector.

Laws relating to Almshouses.

For the information of overseers of the poor, masters of almshouses and others concerned, certain laws relating to almshouses are here summarized.

The Department of Public Welfare is required to visit annually all city and town almshouses, and to include in its annual report a statement of their condition and management, with its suggestions and recommendations relative thereto. (General Laws, chap. 121, sect. 7.)

The master of every almshouse must keep a register, in a form prescribed by the Department of Public Welfare, of the names of the persons received or committed, the cities or towns to which they belong, and the dates of their reception and discharge. (General Laws, chap. 47, sect. 17.)

Every inmate of an almshouse able to work shall be kept diligently employed in labor. If he is idle and does not perform such reasonable task as is assigned, or if he is stubborn and disorderly, he shall be punished according to the orders and regulations established by the directors. (General Laws, chap. 117, sects. 21 and 22; chap. 47, sect. 21. See also opinion of Attorney-General given to State Board of Charity November 21, 1904.)

The only children who can be lawfully supported in a city or town almshouse for a period of more than two months are: (1) those who are so defective in body or mind as to make their retention in an almshouse desirable; (2) those who are under two years of age; (3) those who are under three years of age, with mothers who are almshouse inmates and suitable persons to aid in taking care of them. In cases of failure of overseers of the poor to remove children illegally in almshouses, the Department of Public Welfare is required to remove them and provide for them otherwise, at the expense of the city or town concerned. (General Laws, chap. 117, sects. 36-38.)

Provision is made that tramps and vagrants, as well as criminals, shall be confined in separate and distinct quarters in all almshouses, and shall not be permitted to associate or communicate with pauper inmates. Almshouse officials knowingly violating this law are liable to be punished by a fine of not more than $300, or by imprisonment for not more than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment. (General Laws, chap. 47, sect. 25.) It should also be noted that tramps and vagrants, if physically able, shall perform labor of some kind, and shall be lodged under conditions prescribed by the State Department of Health. (General Laws, chap. 117, sect. 20.)

The Department of Public Welfare is authorized to advise with and assist overseers of the poor in preparation of plans for almshouse buildings. (General Laws, chap. 121, sect. 38.)

Inspection of Almshouses.

During the official year the Department's inspector has visited every almshouse once, 18 have been visited twice, 5 three times and 3 four times. The inspector has had 31 conferences with overseers of the poor and mayors of cities or their representatives in regard to matters of almshouse conditions, or on other matters pertaining to the business of the Department. Individual members of the Advisory Board have made visits from time to time.

New Almshouses.

At Andover, Marlborough and Southbridge the almshouses and farms have been sold. It is probable that a new almshouse will be built at Andover, and plans are now being prepared for a new almshouse at Marlborough. At Southbridge a substantial house has been purchased and remodeled for almshouse purposes. This new building is located on elevated land near the center of the town, and, with the improvements already completed, will make a comfortable, roomy home for the town's dependents.

Almshouses closed.

Dana almshouse has been closed, its last inmate having passed away.

Framingham almshouse has been closed and the inmates provided for in various places, — some in private families, some in institutions and some at the Holliston almshouse.

The Almshouses of the State.

As there has never been any mention in the yearly report of the Department as to the various types of buildings serving the towns and cities of the Commonwealth as almshouses, it seems pertinent and of interest to insert in this report the following brief description of the buildings.

The only almshouse following the cottage plan is the Boston almshouse on Long Island.

Many of the almshouses were purchased as farmhouses and remodeled to suit the needs of a suitable home for the town's poor. Of this type are the houses at Adams, Amesbury, Ashfield, Athol, Attleboro, Ayer, Barnstable, Belchertown, Bellingham, Billerica, Bridgewater, Brimfield, Canton, Charlton, Clinton, Concord, Douglas, Easton, Georgetown, Grafton, Groton, Groveland, Hanover, Harwich, Holliston, Leominster, Lexington, Lunenburg, Malden, Manchester, Mansfield, Marlborough, Marshfield, Mattapoisett, Methuen, Milford, Milton, Monson, Montague, North Andover, Northbridge, Pembroke, Pepperell, Pittsfield, Randolph, Reading, Rockland, Saugus, Seekonk, Somerville, Southbridge, South Hadley, Spencer, Stoneham, Stoughton, Swansea, Uxbridge, Wakefield, Wareham, Warren, Webster, Westborough, West Boylston, West Brookfield, Westfield, Westford, Westport and Woburn.

Many of the above have been extensively remodeled, for example, Billerica, Canton, Charlton, Douglas, Groton, Hanover, Malden, North Andover, Pembroke, Rockland, Somerville, Stoughton and Wakefield.

Buildings originally constructed for almshouse purposes are found in Andover, Barre, Beverly, Braintree, Brockton, Brookline, Buckland, Cambridge, Chicopee, Cohasset, Dartmouth, Dedham, Dennis, Duxbury, East Bridgewater, Easthampton, Fairhaven, Fall River, Falmouth, Franklin, Gardner, Gloucester, Greenfield, Hanson, Harvard, Haverhill, Hingham, Holyoke, Hudson, Ipswich, Lawrence, Lee, Lowell, Lynn, Marblehead, Medford, Medway, Middleborough, Nantucket, New Bedford, Newburyport, Newton, North Adams, Northampton, North Attleborough, North Brookfield, Norwell, Oxford, Palmer, Peabody, Plymouth, Provincetown, Quincy, Rockport, Salem, Somerset, Springfield, Stockbridge, Sutton, Taunton, Upton, Waltham, Ware, West Newbury, Worcester and Wrentham.

Houses originally built as taverns and remodeled for almshouse purposes are at Chelmsford, Fitchburg, Sturbridge and Townsend.

A few almshouses have been donated to towns, — for example, at Barnstable and Concord. The almshouse at Concord was donated by Hugh Cargill and is called in his memory the Hugh Cargill Home.

The oldest house now in use for almshouse purposes is probably at Marshfield, the oldest portion of which was built between 1720 and 1750 and the newer part in 1836.

The oldest almshouses of true type, i.e., built for almshouses, are at Norwell (formerly the Scituate almshouse), Hingham and Salem. The latter is a Bulfinch building erected over one hundred years ago, and has served as a model for much of the later construction.

The prevalent type of house is that found at Brockton, Natick, Braintree, Brookline, etc., and it is probable that the first true model of this type was the Hingham house, a model which was enlarged in the Peabody house built about 1844. Many of the almshouses are very homelike. The Nantucket almshouse is always known as Our Island Home. The beautiful newly acquired house at Winchendon is known as Mt. Pleasant Home. The almshouse at Lancaster, built for the purpose, is different in type from any other in the State, and has a most pleasing exterior and a well-arranged interior. It is not always the newest houses that are the most homelike. It seems that to compensate for much that is lacking, there is in the old houses a homelike atmosphere which it is impossible to build into a new dwelling, and that somehow in these old houses the old people feel happier as a part of the appropriate environment.

Management.

In 134 almshouses the management is in the hands of a warden and matron; and in 11, of a matron only. The combined salaries of these officials average about $1,573 per annum for the cities, and about $836 for the towns, in addition to their board and lodging, the total amount of all salaries being $138,170. In a number of cases the warden performs other services for the town without extra compensation. The greatest length of service in any one place is that of Haverhill, where the warden and matron have served thirty-four years; at Springfield the warden has served thirty-three years; at Beverly the warden has served twenty-six years; at Harwich the warden and matron have served twenty-six years; at Somerville the warden and matron have served twenty-two years; at Canton the warden has served twenty-two years; at Swansea the warden and matron have served twenty and one-half years; at North Attleborough the warden has served seventeen years; at Brockton the matron has served seventeen years; at Fitchburg the warden has served seventeen and one-half years; at Westfield the warden and matron have served seventeen years; at Gloucester the matron has served sixteen and one-half years; at Adams the warden and matron have served sixteen years; at Barre the warden and matron have served sixteen and one-half years; at Manchester the warden and matron have served sixteen and one-half years; at Holyoke the warden and matron have served fifteen and one-half years; at Randolph the warden and matron have served fifteen years; at Stoughton the warden and matron have served fifteen years.

About three-quarters of the cities and towns employ a total of 550 assistants, who are generally paid by the city or town. In three towns the assistants are paid by the warden.

Twenty-four cities and towns are reported as employing a total of 142 nurses in almshouses, as follows: Beverly, 2; Boston, 79; Cambridge, 5; Chicopee, 2; Fall River, 18; Fitchburg, 2; Gloucester, 2; Haverhill, 5; Hingham, 1; Holyoke, 5; Lawrence, 12; Lowell, 14; Lynn, 2; Malden, 2; Medford, 1; New Bedford, 5; Pittsfield, 1; Salem, 3; Reading, 1; Somerville, 2; Taunton, 1; Springfield, 10; Westfield, 2;

Worcester, 8. It appears to the Department a matter of no little importance, especially in the almshouses where the matron is the working housekeeper, that in every case of serious illness, where hospital care is not available, the services of a nurse should be procured.

Five cities and towns are co-operating with the local district nursing associations, and as a result the district nurse is called to the almshouse in these places whenever needed. Extension of this practice is urged where district nursing associations are established, and where regular nurses cannot be permanently employed in the almshouse.

Construction.

In 99 almshouses one or more sitting-rooms are provided for the use of the inmates; 5 use corridors for sitting-rooms; and 39 use dining-rooms. In 97 almshouses one or more smoking-rooms are provided for the use of the inmates; 1 uses a corridor for a smoking-room, and 1 uses an assembly room for a smoking-room. Seventeen almshouses are provided with an assembly room or chapel; 1 uses the assembly room for a sewing-room; 1 uses the assembly room as a dining-room. In 3 almshouses a nursery is provided for infants; 3 almshouses are provided with sewing-rooms; 4 with reception rooms; 1 with sun rooms; 1 with industrial rooms; and 1, with a cottage for children, containing five rooms. There are 2,659 sleeping-rooms, 25 wards and 122 dormitories, with a total of 6,319 beds.

One hundred twenty-nine almshouses have improved plumbing.

In 2 almshouses the heating is by hot air; in 13 by hot water; in 103 by steam; in 11 by stoves; in 5 by hot air and steam; in 6 by hot air and stoves; and in 5 by steam and stoves.

Electricity furnishes light for 104 almshouses; oil for 37; electricity and gas for 2; and gas and oil for 2.

Fire escapes are provided in all cases where they are a matter of importance. In questionable cases the Commissioner has called the matter to the attention of the Department of Public Safety.

In 79 almshouses special hospital accommodations are provided, either by setting apart one or more rooms, or, in a few instances, by separate buildings.

The total valuation is $4,092,230.01. The cost of repairs and improvements for the year amounts to $119,960.18, of which $125,000 was spent for the installation of fire protection system, repairs to wharves, and general upkeep at Boston; $1,034.07 for hardwood floors, painting and general repairs at Brockton; $1,870.59 for reshingling, painting and plumbing at Brookline; $6,000 for installation of new oil-heating system at Fall River; $43,565.02 for new barn and hog house (at a cost of $36,911.22, and general repairs on old building at a cost of $6,653.80) at Holyoke; $6,528.43 for plumbing and heating repairs, installation of new bath-room in male hospital, electrical repairs, roofing repairs, interior and exterior painting at Lowell; $2,863.66 for repairing roof on house, concrete floors and general repairs on shed at Manchester; $1,962.72 for new floors in horse barn, new ceilings in men's dormitory, a new dining-room for employees, and a new motor truck at Milford; $2,214.18 for painting of all the buildings and fences and the rebuilding of the foundation of the house at Nantucket; $13,375.11 for two new boilers, new laundry equipment and general repairs at New Bedford; $1,079.66 for extensive repairs to house and a new granolithic walk at Rockland; $1,837.25 for repair of boilers and fences and general upkeep of buildings at Salem; $3,374.32 for repairs to roofs and gutters, repairs to generator, renewal of plumbing, and repairs on hospital, bakery and stable at Springfield; $1,622.27 for repairs to house, new henhouse, for additional farm machinery and live stock at Taunton; $1,958.50 for painting of buildings, new roofs and minor repairs at Westfield; $18,532.37 for improvements to house and grounds, necessary repairs and new farm machinery and motor trucks at Worcester.

Inmates.

The number of inmates in all the almshouses at the time of visitation was 3,854, viz., 2,232 men, 1,458 women, 60 boys and 104 girls. The largest number in any one almshouse was 810, in Boston. Among the other almshouses of large population may be mentioned Lowell, with 289; Fall River, with 211; New Bedford, with 180; Lawrence, with 164; Cambridge, with 154; Worcester, with 158, Springfield, with 124; Holyoke, with 101.

The ages of the inmates in all the almshouses were as follows: 85 under two years of age; 34 between two and five; 35 between five and fifteen; 13 between fifteen and twenty-one; 40 between twenty-one and thirty; 108 between thirty and forty; 290 between forty and fifty; 666 between fifty and sixty; 1,090 between sixty and seventy; 1,062 between seventy and eighty; 379 between eighty and ninety; 52 between ninety and one hundred; or, under a different grouping, 167 were under twenty-one years of age; 148 between twenty-one and forty; 956 between forty and sixty; and 2,583 sixty and over.

In 61 of the almshouses there was a complete separation of the sexes; in 25 the sexes were separated at night only; in 43 they were separated except at meals; in 16 there was no separation.

Board was paid by friends or by the inmates themselves for a total of 189 inmates.

There were 55 able-bodied inmates under sixty years of age at the time of visitation.

There were 9 soldiers and 18 soldiers' widows.

Consumptives.

During the year two consumptive cases were reported, one at Randolph and one at Rockland. These patients were separated from the rest of the inmates and received special treatment and diet.

The Department has always urged segregation, special treatment and diet in all cases of tuberculosis. In cases where these conditions cannot be complied with, the attention of the overseers of the poor or boards of health has been called to the necessity of better care, and a recommendation made that the patient be provided for under the board of health outside of the almshouse.

Defectives.

In 136 almshouses there was a total of 1,195 defective inmates, of whom 410 were reported as mentally defective; 20 epileptic; 609 crippled; 109 blind; 1 mentally defective and dwarfed; 1 mentally defective and deformed; 4 mentally defective and epileptic; 28 mentally defective and crippled; 7 mentally defective and blind; 2 epileptic and crippled; 4 epileptic and deaf; 1 deaf, dumb and blind; and 1 mentally defective and deaf. As has been the custom in the past the presence of persons believed to be suffering from serious mental derangement has been brought to the attention of the Massachusetts Department of Mental Diseases. So congested are the schools for the feeble-minded that in several instances cities and towns have had to retain in their almshouses cases which evidently should have been cared for under the supervision of the Department of Mental Diseases. While it is conceded that supervision to a limited extent can be given to these cases in almshouses, the Department realizes that it is not a proper place for them.

Vagrants.

During the past year a total of 17 tramps was reported in 6 almshouses, of whom 14 were lodged and 9 fed. Ten were required to work. In all these cases they were separated from the other inmates as the law requires. The almshouses having tramps were: Lunenburg, 2; Sturbridge, 5; Wareham, 2; Westfield, 3; Westford, 4; and Wrentham, 1.

GENERAL LAWS, CHAPTER 47, SECTION 25.

AN ACT RELATIVE TO THE LODGING OF TRAMPS AND VAGRANTS BY CITIES AND TOWNS.

Cities and towns which provide lodging for tramps and vagrants shall require them, if physically able, to perform labor of some kind in return for the lodging and food furnished to them; and the places in which such persons are lodged shall be kept in such order and condition as may be prescribed by the state board of health. [Approved April 26, 1905.]

Libraries of Books.

The following towns provide libraries of books for the inmates: Amesbury, Barnstable, Beverly, Billerica, Boston, Brookline, Cambridge, Fairhaven, Gardner, Greenfield, Groton, Lowell, Malden, Manchester, Marblehead, Marlborough, Montague, New Bedford, Newton, North Andover, Somerville, Southbridge, Spencer, Springfield, Waltham, Warren, West Brookfield, Westfield, Woburn and Worcester.

Farms and Farm Products.

In connection with 145 almshouses is a total of about 13,729 acres. Of these, during the past year, 1,369 were in hoed crops, and 3,145 were seeded to hay or forage crops. Among the cities and towns having the largest acreage are Worcester, with 376 acres; Gardner, with 400; Ipswich, with 365; North Adams, with 300; Saugus, with 240; Spencer, with 240; Barre, with 224; Charlton, Milford, Monson, Montague, Palmer and Peabody, with 200 each. The chief products are milk and vegetables. Some of the other products are hay, apples, cream, pork, butter, poultry, strawberries, small fruit, and plants for market.

Fire Protection.

For the safety of the inmates and the preservation of municipal property, it seems absolutely necessary that every almshouse should be provided with some form of fire protection. The Department is gratified to note the co-operation of the boards of overseers in this matter.

Recommendations made.

The Department's inspector during his visits makes minor suggestions. These deal particularly with the care or comfort of individual cases, and such suggestions are usually welcomed by the wardens and matrons. Because of the inspector's knowledge of the methods in use in all almshouses, his suggestions about the care of individual inmates have proved beneficial in maintaining the high standard of care for which the almshouses of the Commonwealth are justly noted. In addition to such suggestions, the Department, in its communications to the various boards of overseers, has made the following recommendations: —

Brookline, that a cement floor be laid in the men's toilet room located in the attic.

Bellingham, that, because of the advanced age and infirmity of the inmates, a water-closet be installed.

Cambridge, that several cribs be purchased for the use of the children who from time to time are cared for at the institution.

Easton, that fire hose be obtained.

Southbridge, that extensive repairs and especially a proper water supply be secured, or that the town consider the plan of selling the present almshouse and securing new quarters.

Townsend, that one of the inmates be examined with a view to determining her mental condition, and that, if such examination warranted it, she be committed to a hospital for mental diseases.

Rockland, that a suitable nurse be employed to care for a man suffering from tuberculosis in such an advanced stage that he could not be removed.

Rockport, that a man whose mental condition was such that he was a most undesirable inmate be removed to a hospital for mental diseases.

STATISTICS OF POOR RELIEF

STATISTICS OF POOR RELIEF.

NUMBERS RELIEVED.

The following information covers public relief, whether rendered in institutions or outside, and aid rendered by all public agencies, whether State or local.

The tables given below are arranged to show numbers relieved and their analysis by age, sex and nativity. The tabulations are concluded by figures for cost of all relief.

Table I shows the number supported or relieved by the several cities and towns during the year beginning April 1, 1920, and ending March 31, 1921. All persons are included, regardless of settlement. The total number receiving aid in any form, exclusive of vagrants and wayfarers, was 93,675. Of this number, 8,768 were aided in institutions, and 84,907 — the remainder — outside, either in private families or in their own homes. Of the persons aided in institutions, 6,375 were relieved in the various city and town almshouses, leaving 2,393 who were cared for in other institutions. Of the outside aid, 2,716 cases were aided in private families other than their own, while 82,191 were reported as having been aided in their own homes. This last figure thus comprises practically all city and town aid usually known as local public outdoor relief, including that under chapter 118 of the General Laws.

There is a decrease of 8.7 per cent over the preceding year in the number aided in institutions, and an increase of 35 per cent in the number aided outside.

Table II supplies the same data for persons aided or relieved by the State as are shown in Table I for local relief. In addition to aid rendered directly by the State, this table includes also all those cases included in Table I, in which the relief has been rendered by cities and towns in the first instance and reimbursed by the State as required by law. This table shows 25,401 persons aided by the State. Of this number, the aid in 21,103 cases was first rendered by the several cities and towns. The remaining 4,298 cases were aided by the State: 2,642 of them at the State Infirmary; 343 in the almshouse wards at the State Farm; and 74 at the Massachusetts Hospital School.

Table III affords a rapid glance at the movement of population in the dependent group during the year under analysis. Thus it appears that 40,845 cases represented approximately the total number of persons receiving aid April 1, 1920. About 75 per cent of these were receiving relief locally. During the year 55,889 new cases were admitted to relief, about double the number of last year; 30.4 per cent of this figure were aided either directly or through reimbursement by the State. The persons who passed out of care during that same period numbered 40,349, viz., city and town cases, 28,162; State cases, 12,187. Those in this total released by death numbered 1,647, and 1,495 were persons transferred. At the close of the year, therefore, the cities and towns had 43,171 persons in receipt of relief, and the State had 13,214, making a total of 56,385.

Table IV begins classification of the whole number of persons aided, and shows the analysis by color, nativity and sex. Of the 96,734 persons so aided, 45,025 were males and 51,709 were females. The colored races furnished only 1.6 per cent, or 1,567 of the whole number. The native-born whites — 68,245 — still number more than double the foreign born of the white races, the 26,412 of this latter group representing a proportionate increase of 27.8 per cent over last year. The females of the total native born outnumber the males by 6 per cent, while of the total foreign born, the females outnumber the males by 41 per cent.

Table V gives a further interesting analysis of the native-born persons aided during the year classified by parent nativity.

The parents of 19,797 were both native; 36,178 were children of foreign-born parents; 11,918 were of parents one of whom was foreign born or unknown; while the nativity of parents in 1,753 cases remained unascertained. It appears from this table, therefore, that of the 96,734 persons receiving aid in Massachusetts in the year ending March 31, 1921, there were at least 62,743 who were either foreign born or were of the first generation in our citizenship.

By Table VI it appears that of the 96,734 cases aided, 12,334 were under five; 46,862 were under fifteen; 54,745, or 56.5 per cent, including the above, were under twenty; 31,467, or 32.5 per cent, were between twenty and sixty; 9,590, or 10 per cent, were over that age. The ages of 932 were unknown.

Among the poor persons relieved are always a considerable number of mental defectives who for one reason or another have not been committed and are therefore not cared for in the special institutions, such as the asylums for the insane, maintained for that purpose. In regard to this class it is to be noted further that, since no court has passed upon their mental condition, their classification here is made only because, in the opinion of the respective authorities making the returns, there is no doubt of their defect. Table VII affords a rough classification into three groups, according to the nature of the defect, and a division by sex. The total number thus cared for was 448, namely, 237 males and 211 females. Three hundred ninety-five of these cases were relieved by the cities and towns; the remaining 53 of the number, having no settlement, were aided at the expense of the State. One hundred thirty of the whole number were classed as "insane," mostly the senile and mildly insane to be found in the almshouses. This total includes 75 males and 55 females. Two hundred sixty-nine were called "idiotic," namely, 129 males and 140 females. The "epileptics" totaled 49, of whom 33 were males and 16 were females.

Table VIII calls attention more pointedly to the sex and the nature of discharge from relief of those persons who passed out of aid during the year. Of the 40,349 cases so dismissed, 19,797 were males and 20,552 were females. Forty-nine per cent, or 19,829, were released to the care of relatives or friends. In this group the females preponderated slightly. About 4 per cent, or 1,495, of the whole number were transferred to other institutions, while 43 per cent of the aggregate were discharged without relatives or friends or other authorities agreeing to look after them. The great majority in this last group were persons assisted through illness, after which they became self-supporting again.

As appears from Table IX the foreign born who were receiving public relief during the year numbered 26,565, or 27.4 per cent of the entire number of persons aided. This percentage is less than the proportion of foreign born in the population generally (31.4 per cent) by 4 per cent. Canada furnished 5,690 of this number; England and Wales, 1,455; Germany, 204; Ireland, 5,140; Italy, 3,592; Russia and Poland, 3,020; Scandinavia, 415; and Scotland, 365; all other countries, 6,684.

Table X shows the percentage of the various classes aided to the whole number relieved. Thus of the 96,734 persons relieved, 73.74 per cent were settled cases, receiving their assistance out of local taxes; 26.26 per cent were unsettled, and, though relieved by the respective cities and towns in the first instance in a majority of cases, were ultimately aided out of the State tax. As to the place in which relief was given, 12.22 per cent of the total were aided in institutions, namely, 6.59 per cent in almshouses; 3.16 per cent in State institutions; and 2.47 per cent in other institutions, mostly under private management. Outdoor relief, designated as aid "outside," was given in 87.78 per cent of all the cases. Most of these, namely, 84.97 per cent, were relieved in their own homes. Aid was given in private families other than the recipient's own — mostly boarded cases — in 2.81 per cent instances.

Percentages of age show that 57.31 per cent were minors, 31.81 per cent were between the ages of twenty-one and sixty, and 9.92 per cent were sixty or over. The ages of .96 per cent were unknown. Sexes differ slightly, males rating 46.55 and females 53.45 per cent.

The number of colored persons was very small, totaling only 1.62 per cent.

By reason of thoroughgoing classification in the care of defectives, the percentage of those mentally deficient persons still cared for as poor-relief cases is exceedingly small, and tends always to decrease. The mental condition of all the cases aided shows, on analysis, that 99.5 per cent were sane, .13 per cent were insane, .28 per cent were idiotic, and .05 per cent were epileptic. The proportion of sane persons in last year's returns was 99.46 per cent.

It is further of interest to view at a glance the numerical relationship to the whole population of the persons relieved at public expense as appears in Table XI, which exhibits the number of each class in every thousand of the population of the State on a basis of the census of 1920. Thus it is shown that in each thousand of the population there were 25.11 indigent persons relieved at public expense. Of these, 11.69 were males, and 13.42 were females. The native born numbered 18.08 in the thousand; foreign born, 6.90; native born of foreign parentage, 9.39; and those of unknown nativity, .13. The proportion of vagrants reported was .15 in the thousand.

COST OF POOR RELIEF.

The funds laid out by the several cities and towns for all poor relief within their respective fiscal years are shown in Table XII. The aggregate is classified as "ordinary," or maintenance, and "extraordinary," or special. Together with the ordinary outlays are shown the receipts on account of maintenance, and the difference, set out under "net ordinary expenditures." The ordinary outlay is classified as expenses in institutions and outside. This subdivision follows the classifications in Table I regarding the nature and the place of aid. The grand totals in Table XII show that an aggregate of $7,174,057.79 was laid out by the several cities and towns. Of this sum, $7,127,122.87 was ordinary outlay, or maintenance; the remainder, or $46,934.92, was expended for sundry improvements, all of it at the city and town almshouses. Of the money laid out for maintenance, $2,047,547.62 was expended for almshouse care, and $530,776.91 for relief in other institutions.

Care in private families took $335,771.33, and relief in the recipients' own homes, i.e., outdoor poor relief, totaled $3,797,-952.07. The cost of administration, including salary and office expenses of the overseers, but exclusive of institution administration, came to $415,074.94. The total receipts on account of ordinary expenditures were $1,966,995.24, — classified as receipts on account of institutions, $544,070.43; and all other, $1,422,924.81. This latter portion of the receipts is made up mostly of reimbursements by cities and towns ultimately liable, and from the State treasury in unsettled cases. Subtracting receipts leaves $5,160,127.63 as the net ordinary outlay.

In Table XIII the analysis shown for cities and towns by Table XII is carried out for cases aided out of State funds. Of the $1,909,891.92 expended for this purpose, $1,889,690.10 was on account of ordinary expenditures, laid out as follows: at the State Infirmary, $365,433.09; at the State Farm, $68,872.36; at the Hospital School, $31,922.50; and all other expenditures, outside of institutions, $1,423,462.15. Extraordinary expenditures totaled $20,201.82, — all expended for special improvements at the several institutions just enumerated. Inasmuch as it is impossible to trace institution expenditures to the separate individuals receiving the aid, the figures set out under the State tables of cost are arrived at by taking from total expenditures that proportion which the number relieved bears to the total inmate population of the institution.

In Table XIV State and local outlays are added, showing that of the $7,116,954.47 expended for public poor relief, $7,049,817.73 was for ordinary outlays, of which $2,414,835.06 went for institutional relief and $4,634,982.67 was for relief outside. The total of extraordinary expenditures was $67,136.74.

The aggregate net cost is somewhat less this year than last, due to more favorable industrial conditions; the gross figures for cities and towns being quoted by error in this table for the year ending March 31, 1920, instead of the net figures, which were: aggregate, $4,604,646.10; total ordinary expenditures, $4,512,390.22; in institutions, $1,669,051.22; outside, $2,843,339; extraordinary expenditures, $92,255.88.
